Without Freedom Of The Press There Is No Democracy

Voters To Decide On Choices Today

Voters in Ouachita Parish will decide today on a U. S. Senator, Fifth District Congressman, public service commissioner, and a list of other municipal, parish and ward officials.

The picture is similar state-wide, plus in some instances, seats on the State Board of Education and state judgeships are up for grabs.

The Senate race pits an area businessman, Troyce Guice, Ferriday, and former Ouachita Parish resident, State Sen. J. B. DeBlieux, Baton Rouge, against the incumbent, Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Houma.

Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman of Monroe faces a hometown opponent, Louis L. LaDart, retired World War II veteran, in this, the last race in what now comprises the Fifth Congressional District. Two years from now, candidates will run in a Fifth District that includes East and West Feliciana and St. Helena Parishes, the results of a Supreme Court edict.

VOTER INTEREST

Occupying the most voter interest, however, is the race for Public Service Commissioner from the third district. This district composed of 28 North Louisiana parishes, has produced three governors - Huey P. Long, Jimmy Davis and John J. McKeithen. When McKeithen became governor he named John S. Hunt II of Monroe - a nephew of Earl and Huey Long - to fill his unexpired PSC term.

Hunt now seeks a full-term and is opposed by five men, including John B. McKinley, who served a long-term law partnership with McKeithen after he announced. Hunt is backed by the governor and his defeat would be interpreted widely as a setback for the administration.

Hunt's other opponents are State Reps. John S. Garrett, Haynesville, and Percy Branton of Shreveport, former State Rep. John B. Jack of Shreveport, and Pollock businessman Perry H. (Buster) Coleman.

The hottest race locally is for Monroe City Judge, Wards 3 and 10. Acting Judge William L. Crowe is opposed by Monroe attorney Hewitt Johnson, George Fink and Billy L. Adams. Crowe has been serving on the bench as replacement for Judge W. M. Harper, who stepped down for reasons attributed to health.

In the race for assessor of Ouachita Parish, Mrs. Mary Burl Coverdale, named by the governor to replace her late husband, is running against the chief deputy in the assessor's office, Odie Russell, and V. A. Randall of West Monroe, whose background includes assessment experience in Richland and Catahoula Parishes.

In ward voting, the ballot for Wards 1, 2, 4, 6, 7, 8, will have only the assessor as a local race. But voters in Ward 5 will decide on a marshal between incumbent Pete O. Holcomb and his opponent, Charles W. Tower. Holcomb is seeking his third term. A six-year term on the Ouachita Parish School Board is also up for grabs in Ward 5 with four candidates running. They are Roy C. Brooks, Morris C. Griggs, J. D. Purvis and Mrs. Fred River Sr., the incumbent, who was appointed to fill the vacancy of her late husband.

A special election for a two-year seat on the parish board pits Jerry Lee Ford, Chester Holloway and Joe B. Zuber, for the position now held by Purvis, who is seeking a full six year term.

In Ward 10 a full term on the parish board pits William G. (Bill) Kelly, Carl H. Thompson and H. W. Tolson. A special election for a seat on the city school board will be decided between George J. Burroughs, Peter Joseph Dowd, David Kahn, Joe Kilcoyne, H. Austin Miller and Robert S. Kennedy. Ward 10 voters will also decide on a city marshal for Wards 3 and 10 between Richard Reitzel, W. C. Oglesbee and G. D. (Don) Glascock.

In Ward 9, the special race is for a full term seat on the parish school board, with the decision to be made between Hickman L. Bamberg, M. H. Head and Dwight Owens, the incumbent.

In Ward 3, voters will decide on a candidate for the parish school board between the incumbent, B. A. Tarver Sr., Orville Renfrow, and Leon Shanlin, a Negro. They will also vote for the city judge, city marshal and member on the city school board.

OTHER RACES

One of the hottest races state-wide and certainly the most publicized is in the 6th Congressional District where Congressman James H. Morrison is fighting for his political life. His chief opponent, fiery John R. Rarick,

Indonesians To Join Malaysians In Fight Against Communism

U.N. Return Discussed By Nations

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Indonesia said Friday it is ready to join Malaysia in fighting Communism. Until recently, Indonesia was communism's chief ally in Southeast Asia and received about $3 billion in military aid from the Soviet Union.

Indonesia's visiting foreign minister, Adam Malik, also told a news conference here his country welcomed Malaysia's offer to support its readmission to the United Nations.

Indonesia quit the United Nations in anger Jan. 2, 1965, because Malaysia was elected to the Security Council.

FULL CIRCLE

Malik's visit and his statements indicated relations between the two countries had come full circle since President Sukarno's slide into a mere figurehead role began last Oct. 1 with an attempted Red Coup. Sukarno was the moving spirit behind Indonesia's "crush Malaysia" campaign and a supporter of both Moscow and Peking.

Under pressure from the army — which rushed the Communist party — and Red-hating students, Sukarno turned over most of his power to Gen. Suharto last March. Malik became Suharto's right hand man.

The "crush Malaysia" policy — called confrontation — was formally ended Thursday with signing of a peace agreement in Jakarta. Malik flew here to celebrate it.

The pact was solemnized in a Moslem ritual at the national mosque marked by prayers for "eternal friendship" between the two recently warring neighbor nations.

Malik and Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Abdul Razak — both of whom signed the peace pact in Jakarta — arrived in separate planes within minutes of each other. They were welcomed by a cheering crowd of 12,000 persons that jammed the airport.

For the first time in Malaysia's brief history, the Indonesian flag was flown and the Indonesian national anthem was played here.

At a luncheon after the ceremony, Malaysia's Prime Minister Abdul Rahman and Malik — in almost identical words — both on both sides tried to forget the past and "look forward to a bright future."

Bitterness ripped the two neighbors apart when Indonesia launched its undeclared war against Malaysia three years ago on the grounds that the Federation of Malaysia was a British "neocolonialist" threat. The Federation brought together Malaysia, Borneo states, and Singapore. Singapore withdrew.

Razak and Malik both confirmed that Indonesia-Malaysia diplomatic relations will be resumed "very soon." Asked when, "weeks or months," Razak replied "hours."

The death drama was played out on the edge of an area of green fields where children on vacation from school were at play.

Said another witness: "I saw one body lying 10 yards from the police car. Another was slumped in a seat of the car. A third was underneath. The windshield — windshield — of the car was shattered."

Acid Burns Negro Man

CHICAGO (UPI) — Jeering whites burned a Negro driver with acid and rained curses, threats and bottles on the procession of 1,000 civil rights campaigners through Chicago's Southwest Side Friday.

Despite the violence, the fury of the white crowd in the Bogart neighborhood did not match that which has greeted earlier demonstrations in a nation's Negroes in the area.

The ugliest incident didn't even involve a marcher. A Negro driving through the area before the march started was set upon by a crowd of whites at 79th Street and Pulaski Road.

Acid was thrown through the window, and the driver, Eugene Worden, was admitted to St. George's Hospital suffering from burns on the upper chest, both arms, and right ankle.

SHREVEPORT (Special) — A tornado swept across south Caddo Parish Friday afternoon, dipping down at least four times and causing widespread damage to homes, trees and power lines, but no injuries were definitely connected with it.

The tornado, traveling from the southwest, dipped first near the Wallace Lake and Mayo Road, damaging two homes and blowing trees across the highways. It skipped the nearby Lucien Airfield where planes were parked and dropped down again near Forbing, blocking the Ellerbe Road and heavily damaging the Richard Norton estate at the intersection of the Ellerbe and Flournoy Lucas Roads.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A for 36 days repeatedly has balked would-be peacemakers, including President Johnson. Despite official denials, there were secret meetings of spokesmen for both sides Friday.

The committee-approved bill is almost identical with one the Senate has already passed. If the House passes it unchanged, the Senate presumably would accept the minor alterations without insisting on a conference.

The measure calls for a 30-day resumption of work by congressional mandate, followed by a number of procedures the President could use to delay for as much as 150 days more any resumption of the strike.

The administration has refused either to endorse or condemn legislation, and has called the strike a grave inconvenience, but not a national emergency.

Three Persons Killed In Catahoula Parish

JONESVILLE (Special) — Three men were killed in a head-on collision about three miles north of here on La. Hwy. 124 late Friday.

Catahoula Sheriff's deputies identified the three as Thomas N. Drewett, 45, Jena; Jerry Thomas Mc-Laurin, 28, Jonesville; and a cousin, Harry McLaurin, 20, Collins, Miss.

According to deputies the wreck occurred when Drewett, traveling south, and Jerry McLaurin, headed north, collided in a curve.

Deputies said that although investigation was incomplete, McLaurin apparently drifted into the left lane of traffic while negotiating the curve, into Drewett's path. All three died immediately.

CARS DEMOLISHED Deputies said both cars were demolished. Road conditions were said dry at the time of the accident.

Funeral services for Jerry McLaurin, an oil-field supply company employee, will be at 3 p.m. Sunday at Station Creek Baptist Church near Collins, Miss. Burial will be in the church cemetery under the direction of Young's Funeral Home in Ferriday.

Survivors include his widow; two daughters, Teresa and Dot; parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. McLaurin, Wildsville; three sisters, Mrs. Kathryn Wilford, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. Ann Wheat, Jonesville; and Mrs. Juanee Lisenbee, Crestview, Fla.

Funeral arrangements for Harry McLaurin, who had been visiting relatives in Jonesville, will be handled today in Collins, Miss.

Arrangements for Thomas Drewett were also incomplete late Friday, at Kinner - Stevens Funeral Home in Jena.

3 London Bobbies Shot In Chicago Style Fray

LONDON (AP) — Three London policemen were shot dead Friday in a massacre without parallel in more than 50 years of British crime.

They were shot down within sight of children playing in the streets of a quiet residential district of West London.

Scotland Yard at once threw every available detective and uniformed policeman in West London into a giant manhunt.

UNARMED TRUCE

British police and detectives carry guns only in exceptional circumstances, and most criminals do not carry guns either, in a tacit unspoken truce between the police and the underworld. Recently, however, law enforcement officials have expressed alarm at the increasing use of firearms by young criminals.

In the past five years, three British policemen have been fatally shot and one was stabbed to death.

The last time three policemen were killed in one incident was in 1910. This led to the famous siege of Sidney Street in London's East End, when bobbies were armed with shotguns and directed by Winston Churchill, then home secretary, in a battle against supposed anarchists.

The Police Federation has come out against abolishing the death penalty for murdering a police officer, but the House of Commons later voted to end hanging for all murder. No resolutions have been passed by police groups favoring the arming of Britain's bobbies.

The three dead men — apparently unarmed — were a detective sergeant, a detective constable and a police constable. They were the plainclothes crew of a cruising unmarked police car.

They were killed as they apparently tried to question suspects.

A young girl who witnessed the tragedy said the police car had drawn alongside another auto. Two policemen got out. Two of four men in the other car also got out.

"They immediately started firing at the policemen, who fell into the road," she said. "At the same time one of the men in the other car started shooting as well."

Said another witness: "I saw one body lying 10 yards from the police car. Another was slumped in a seat of the car. A third was underneath. The windshield — windshield — of the car was shattered."

The death drama was played out on the edge of an area of green fields where children on vacation from school were at play.

Showers Bring Cool Weather

Showers continued over the Twin Cities Friday, keeping the high temperature recording down to 86. The FAA at Selman Field reported .09 inches of rainfall, pushing the total rainfall this month up to .83 inches.

Low temperature Friday was 72. The high last year was the same, while the low moved up two degrees this year.

Considerable cloudiness and widely scattered showers and thundershowers are expected over the area today and Sunday. Winds will be southerly 8 to 16 m.p.h.

Expected high today is 88 to 92. Low temperature should be 72 to 78.

Today's Election Is Important--Be Sure To Cast Your Ballot

No Observer Interference

Two Judges Rule On Poll Watchers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two federal judges ruled Friday that parish and election officials in six Louisiana parishes must not interfere with federal observers for today's primary election.

The judges said the federal observers must be permitted to make sure that everyone entitled to vote under the 1965 voting rights act is permitted to do so.

Before the ruling, fiery Leander H. Perez Sr., the state's chief segregation spokesman, suggested to the court that some election booths in the state would be electronically bugged for the primary.

"They'll be well supplied with mikes and detectors," the white-maned Perez, political leader of Plaquemine Parish, said in opposing the presence of the federal observers.

The court also ruled that federal observers should be permitted to go within the curtains of voting machines to observe the procedure when an illiterate voter asks for assistance.

The state conducts its first primary balloting tomorrow under the 1965 Voting Rights Act. During a recess, Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. John P. Doar was asked about Perez insinuation that the Justice Department would place electronic snooping devices in the voting booths.

Doar, the department's chief civil rights lawyer, said he didn't get that implication from Perez' comment "but anyway the Justice Department does not operate that way. Our people would be there as observers only."

Both Perez and State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion told U.S. Circuit Judge John Minor Wisdom and U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert W. Christenberry that the presence of federal observers would destroy the secrecy of the ballot.

"Why don't they hold this election in the office of (U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas) Katzenbach?" Gremlion asked the two black-robed judges.

Doar argued that all the federal government was trying to do was to see that an illiterate voter's ballot was counted for the candidate of his choice.

He pointed out that the federal observers would be in only six parishes of the state and only in certain polling places in those parishes.

The affected parishes are Plaquemine, East and West Feliciana, Madison, East Carroll and Ouachita.

As the hearing got under way in New Orleans, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black refused in Washington to interfere with the lower federal court's order adding about 13,000 voters to the rolls in five of the parishes. A majority of the 13,000 are Negroes.

Judges Wisdom and Christenberry, along with U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West, made up the panel which Thursday rejected Gremlion's request to defer the order adding the voters — enrolled by federal examiners — to the registration rolls.

Madison Parish was not affected by that ruling.

"It seems to me," Justice Black said in a memorandum, "that a hasty last-minute modification or stay of the district court's order might more likely increase than clarify any confusion that might possibly have been brought about by the order."

Furthermore, said Black, there wasn't time for him to give the matter sufficient consideration in view of the district court's "considered belief that its order is essential to protect threats against the cherished right of citizens to vote."

Judge Christenberry interrupted a hearing on a Justice Department suit to integrate public schools in Perez' Plaquemine Parish to sit with Judge Wisdom to consider Doar's request that federal agents be permitted to aid illiterates and serve as observers.

At the start of the afternoon hearing, Gremlion objected that he hadn't been given notice and that Judge West was not present.

Wisdom said he and Christenberry had conferred with Judge West, who was unable to attend and who suggested they proceed without him. West had dissented to Thursday's decision to defer the enrollment of the 13,000 voters registered by federal examiners.

In an aside to a newsman, Perez commented: "The Gestapo has taken over our election — on a precinct level."

The Justice Department presumably decided to add Madison Parish to the other five although no federal examiners have been in the parish. Through normal state registration processes, Negro voters outnumber whites in Madison.

The Negroes registered by federal examiners give Negroes a majority of the voters in East Carroll and West Feliciana parishes also.

Negro candidates are running against whites for school board posts in both Madison and East Carroll. There are also Negro candidates in Ouachita and West Feliciana, but whites have the most voters in these parishes.

At last 20 Negroes are seeking school board and other posts across the state.

A federal court ruling two years ago forced the state to stop designating candidates by race on the ballot.

There are Negro school board candidates in Concordia, Iberville, St. Landry, Calcasieu, East and West Baton Rouge, Beauregard and Rapides parishes.

Negro J. D. Hampton opposes incumbent Frank Norman for mayor in a special primary at Minden; Negro Rossie Banks is running for the police jury in Caddo Parish and Negro Daniel L. White Jr., seeks the city marshal's post at Opelousas.

In 1960, before the presidential election, Louisiana had 159,035 Negro voters—13.8 per cent of the total electorate. Currently there are 225,153 Negroes registered — 18.1 per cent — in addition to those registered by federal examiners.

Some Negroes, like Madison, had no Negro voters six years ago.

Air Force Jets Tangle With MIGs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A flight of U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs tangled with two Communist MIG17s Friday about 60 miles northwest of Hanoi, the U.S. Command announced today.

A U.S. spokesman said both MIGs were damaged and one of the F105s was slightly damaged.

The MIGs broke off the encounter.

Navy pilots sighted three surface-to-air missiles 30 miles west-northwest of Vinh. The spokesmen said there was no indication any of them hit the American planes. He said he had no reports of any U.S. planes being downed.

A Marine spokesman said Red gunners inflicted light casualties and damage on the post with three recoilless rifle shells and 15 or 20 mortar rounds in an attack before dawn. U.S. gunships — armed helicopters — broke it up. There was no report on whether the Communist unit, estimated at 40 men, suffered any losses.

Operation Colorado is working over an area about 35 miles south of Da Nang.

A U.S. Navy cruiser contributed to the tons of explosives that blasted at Communist positions elsewhere. It fired from the South China Sea in support of U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops operating near the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam. Without naming the cruiser, a spokesman said it lobbed eight-inch shells up to 15 miles inland.

B52 jet bombers from Guam, each packing 25 tons of explosives, staged two raids just south of the zone on suspected staging areas of the Viet Cong and their North Vietnamese allies. One strike was made Thursday night and the other Friday morning.

Lighter warplanes of the U.S. Air Force and Navy hit again north of the border, following up 118 missions Thursday that included the sixth strike of the war at the Uong Bi power plant, 14 miles northeast of Haiphong. The Uong Bi plant once was supposed to produce 15 per cent of North Viet Nam's electric power. The North Vietnamese presumably have been repairing it after each raid, the first of which was staged last December.

Destruction of an F8 Crusader jet from the carrier Oriskany by ground fire Thursday increased to 332 the announced list of American planes lost over North Viet Nam. The pilot parachuted into the Gulf of Tonkin, swam two miles to an island and was rescued by a helicopter. The Crusader was the 11th plane shot down this week, equalling a record the North Vietnamese set in the week of July 17-23.

A Hanoi broadcast, not confirmed in Saigon, read three more were shot down Friday.

While ground action was generally light, U.S. and Vietnamese pilots flew a near-record 795 sorties over South Viet Nam in the 24-hour period up to dawn. Many of these single plane strikes were in support of the Marines in the north and American, Korean and Vietnamese soldiers probing the central highlands in Operation Paul Hare II.

Among clashes reported by briefing officers:

—Two U.S. Marine tanks sank three Viet Cong sampans and killed 15 guerrillas on the Vu Gia River 18 miles south of Saigon.

—A South Vietnamese militia unit raided a Communist-held village 30 miles southwest of Saigon and killed 16 Viet Cong. They captured 13 enemy weapons. The raid was notable in that militiamen ordinarily stick to a defensive role.

Reporting on raids over North Viet Nam on Friday, the spokesman said Air Force jets hammered a fuel storage area near Quang Khe, about 20 miles north of Dong Hoi. Pilots reported heavy black smoke and numerous fires.

Active Viet Nam Duty

Senate Body Asks To Use Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new demand that some Reserves be called to active duty for the war in Viet Nam came from the Senate Appropriations Committee on Friday when it approved a defense budget of more than $58 billion.

"The committee insists that immediate consideration be given to utilizing Reserve forces, especially those individuals who have no service in the active forces except as trainees, to meet some or all of the additional requirements of the active forces for additional men," the committee said.

"It would be in the national interest to utilize a reasonable portion of the Reserve forces of all the services" in fulfilling the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam, the committee said in its formal report on the annual military appropriations bill for the year which started July 1.

"We have got a scandal here," said Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., floor manager of the bill.

"Men who have enough pull to get into the Reserve or National Guard units are not being sent to fight, while the man across the street who is drafted lands in Viet Nam."

"I am seeking equality of service by all Americans," he told newsmen. "It costs just as much to train a Reservist as a draftee for six months. The difference is that the draftee probably goes to Viet Nam."

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, with the backing of President Johnson, so far has declined to call any Reserves to duty, either in units or as individuals. Both men have said such action may be required in the future, however.

Young men who enlist in the Army Reserve or the National Guard obligate themselves to a six-month tour of active duty. They then are assigned to units or to a manpower pool.

Russell said there is a backlog of more than 130,000 of these volunteers who have not even been given their six months of training. "Many young men get into the Reserves on the theory they will not be sent to Viet Nam," he said.

Russell is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee as well as of the Appropriations subcommittee which handles the military money bill.

More Hospitals On Medicare

The West Carroll Parish Hospital at Oak Grove and the Bernice Clinic and Hospital at Bernice are the latest additions to the list of participating hospitals in the Medicare Program in Northeast Louisiana, according to J. Dodd Brooks, District Manager of the Monroe Social Security Office.

"This brings the total to ten hospitals in the district that are now in the Medicare Program," Brooks said.

No Observer Interference

Two Judges Rule
On Poll Watchers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two federal judges ruled Friday that parish and election officials in six Louisiana parishes must not interfere with federal observers for today's primary election.

The judges said the federal observers must be permitted to make sure that everyone entitled to vote under the 1965 voting rights act is permitted to do so. Before the ruling, Judge Leonard H. Perez Sr., the state's chief segregation spokesman, suggested to the court that some election booths in the state would be electronically bugged for the primary.

"They'll be well supplied with mikes and detectors," the white-maned Perez, political leader of Plaquemine Parish, said in opposing the presence of the federal observers.

The court also ruled that federal observers should be permitted to go within the curtains of voting machines to observe the procedure when an illiterate voter asks for assistance.

The state conducts its first primary balloting tomorrow under the 1965 Voting Rights Act. During a recess, Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. John P. Doar was asked about Perez insinuation that the Justice Department would place electronic snooping devices in the voting booths.

Doar, the department's chief civil rights lawyer, said he didn't get that implication from Perez' comment "but anyway the Justice Department does not operate that way. Our people would be there as observers only."

Both Perez and State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion told U.S. Circuit Judge John Minor Wisdom and U.S. District Judge Herbert W. Christenberry that the presence of federal observers would destroy the secrecy of the ballot.

"Why don't they hold this election in the office of (U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas) Katzenbach?" Gremlion asked the two black-robed judges.

Doar argued that all the federal government was trying to do was to see that an illiterate voter's ballot was counted for the candidate of his choice.

He pointed out that the federal observers would be in only six parishes of the state and only in certain polling places in those parishes.

The affected parishes are Plaquemine, East and West Feliciana, Madison, East Carroll and Ouachita.

As the hearing got under way in New Orleans, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black refused in Washington to interfere with the lower federal court's order adding about 13,000 voters to the rolls in five of the parishes. A majority of the 13,000 are Negroes.

Judges Wisdom and Christenberry, along with U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West, made up the panel which Thursday rejected Gremlion's request to defer the order adding the voters — enrolled by federal examiners — to the registration rolls.

Madison Parish was not affected by that ruling.

"It seems to me," Justice Black said in a memorandum, "that a hasty last-minute modification or stay of the district court's order might more likely increase than clarify any confusion that might possibly have been brought about by the order."

Furthermore, said Black, there wasn't time for him to give the matter sufficient consideration in view of the district court's "considered belief that its order is essential to protect threats against the cherished right of citizens to vote."

Judge Christenberry interrupted a hearing on a Justice Department suit to integrate public schools in Perez' Plaquemine Parish to sit with Judge Wisdom to consider Doar's request that federal agents be permitted to aid illiterates and serve as observers.

At the start of the afternoon hearing, Gremlion objected that he hadn't been given notice and that Judge West was not present.

Wisdom said he and Christenberry had conferred with Judge West, who was unable to attend and who suggested they proceed without him. West had dissented to Thursday's decision to defer the enrollment of the 13,000 voters registered by federal examiners.

Lighter warplanes of the U.S. Air Force and Navy hit again north of the border, following up 118 missions Thursday that included the sixth strike of the war at the Ung Bi power plant, 14 miles northeast of Hainphong. The Ung Bi plant once was supposed to produce 15 per cent of North Viet Nam's electric power. The North Vietnamese presumably have been repairing it after each raid, the first of which was staged last December.

Operation Colorado is working over an area about 35 miles south of Da Nang.

A U.S. Navy cruiser contributed to the loss of explosives that blasted at Communist positions elsewhere. It fired from the South China Sea in support of U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops operating near the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam. Without naming the cruiser, a spokesman said it lobbed eight-inch shells up to 15 miles inland.

B52 jet bombers from Guam, each packing 25 tons of explosives, staged two raids just south of the zone on suspected staging areas of the Viet Cong and their North Vietnamese allies. One strike was made Thursday night and the other Friday morning.

Four Major Conservative Groups Move To Merge Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seeking to forge a more effective political apparatus, four major conservative organizations moved Friday to pool their efforts to influence the American voter.

Barry Goldwater proposed the alliance, and presided over the meeting at which it was approved.

The decision came at a Thursday conference in Goldwater's Washington apartment and was announced Friday. Goldwater, through a spokesman, denied it represents any move toward a conservative third party.

The four organizations are Goldwater's own Free Society Association; Americans for Constitutional Action; the American Conservative Union; and the Young Americans for Freedom.

Two of them — the Free Society Association and the American Conservative Union — were created after Goldwater, as Republican presidential nominee, lost by a massive margin to President Johnson two years ago.

"The groups will not merge, but will closely coordinate their work, avoid duplication and thus try to serve the conservative movement more effectively," a spokesman said.

Goldwater himself described the move this way: "My purpose was to bring the leading conservative organizations together to talk about cooperation and coordination that is long overdue."

"Continuing efforts will be made to provide over-all direction and purpose to the American conservative movement."

"Every one of these groups was designed to be a conservative catch-all," one man involved in the move said. "It hasn't worked out."

Instead, there have been overlapping activities — and outright competition for the conservative dollar.

The conservatives have yet to work out the detailed role each organization will assume in the new alliance.

But Americans for Constitutional Action probably will be the political-action branch; the Free Society Association an issues-and-research operation.

The American Conservative Union, best at one point by internal dissension over its proper role, has worked in both those fields.

Young Americans for Freedom is a six-year-old conservative youth movement.

Americans for Constitutional Action, with about 5,200 subscribers, is the oldest and politically most active of the organizations. It spent $109,600 on political campaigns two years ago, and a spokesman said it will spend at least three-quarters of that amount this year.

Goldwater's Free Society Association was designed to speak for the conservative viewpoint without direct political action. It claims more than 40,000 members — far short of the goal set when Goldwater announced its formation.

The other two organizations were said to have about 40,000 members between them but there is some duplication of names on the various rosters.

Disc Jockey Approves Beatle Bow

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Beatle John Lennon's apology for making what some have constructed as antireligious remarks was accepted Friday by the Birmingham disc jockey who started the Beatle ban.

"We accept his apology and feel we have made our point through our objections to his lighthearted treatment of religion," said Tommy Charles, co-manager of WAQY.

Charles announced the ban and called for burning of Beatle records and trappings after reading an interview in which Lennon was quoted as saying the Beatles are more popular than Jesus and that Christianity is dying.

Lennon apologized in Chicago Thursday night for the remarks which he said were not intended as anti-Christian — "I never meant it as a lousy, antireligious thing."

WAQY said it would still continue its Beatle record ban, but has called off plans to destroy them. The station earlier had abandoned the idea of burning them.

Charles said "there is no need for carrying the campaign any further." But he added that the station would not resume playing the rock'n'roll group's records immediately.

"We'll wait and see how they act on their American tour," Charles said.

Pickets Parade Before Church

NEW YORK (UPI) —Young supporters of birth control, some of them Roman Catholics, picketed St. Patrick's Cathedral Friday.

"Rome fiddles while the world yearns for birth control," read one of the pickets' placards. They passed out pamphlets saying "Pope Paul must allow all methods of birth control."

The 20 pickets said they were members of the Hempstead, N.Y., Parents Aid Society. They operate mobile units called "plan vans" which will visit neighborhoods in the metropolitan area on request to distribute information on family planning.

M'Namara's TFX Skeleton

If anyone ever had a skeleton he would like to hide in a closet, it surely must be Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Defense. And the skeleton he would like to hide is the TFX fiasco, sometimes described as "McNamara's TFX Folly." But who ever heard of being able to hide a vast array of planes costing many billions of dollars in a closet.

It was back in 1962 that McNamara and his Whiz Kids of the Defense Department came up with the idea of a dual-purpose military airplane — dubbed at that time the TFX (technical fighter experimental) — which would involve a multi-billion dollar contract to supply one aircraft to both Air Force and Navy.

Naturally, the big question at first was who was to get the enormous contract. Rivalry narrowed to Boeing of Washington and General Dynamics of Texas. The contract went to President Johnson's home state. Many thought the apparently unjustified contract should be as big a "bug" on Johnson's back as on McNamara's but it seemed easier and more convenient to let the whole thing become known as 'McNamara's TFX Folly.'

The Defense Secretary's dream of saving money by buying a dual-purpose plane went up in thin, blue smoke, which practically everyone knew before the ink had dried on the contract.

Board Is Ignored

Some members of the Senate became interested when they discovered that the contract had been let by the Defense Department despite the unanimous decision of the Pentagon Source Selection Board that the design submitted by Boeing was superior to that offered by General Dynamics, that the Boeing price was $100 million lower than the bid by General Dynamics, might run as much as $416 million lower and that Boeing had offered to build, for the same contract price, two types of planes, one specifically designed to meet the needs of the Air Force and the other designed to meet the needs of the Navy.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal recently pointed out that all of these facts were brought to public light in the lengthy hearings which were held in 1963 by a Subcommittee on Investigations of the Government Operations Committee, headed by Senator John L. McClellan, D. Ark. The Commercial Appeal said:

"The Navy had objected strongly to the TFX, largely on the basis that a large of such design would be too heavy to land safely on carriers, but there were many other objections raised to the chosen TFX design not the least of which was that it would be far more costly than the Boeing design."

"Secretary McNamara rode roughshod over the objections of the military and the efforts of the Senate to review the matter. The Government, he claimed, would save a billion dollars on the General Dynamics design mainly because it offered 85 per cent 'commonality' of parts on the Navy and Air Force versions while the Boeing design had 'commonality' on only 60 per cent of its parts. McNamara's press agent explained 'commonality' was simply Pentagonese for interchangeable parts."

"Well, General Dynamics has been building some of these dual-purpose planes for testing."

Can't Climb High

"And, as the Navy had predicted, the test model weighed 14,000 pounds more than the safe weight for carrier landings. In addition, it has flunked its tests as an out-post plane to intercept enemy aircraft because it lacks sufficient fuel capacity. The test planes could not even reach their destinations, much less 'loiter' there on guard for the specified hour and a half.

"On top of all this, Chairman George H. Mahon, D. Texas, of the House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee has projected the cost of 23 TFX prototype production planes at 1.5 billion dollars, or 416 million more than had been estimated when the contract was awarded and costs still are climbing. The Navy already has scaled back procurement from 350 to less than 150 planes."

Will Resume Probe

"Senator McClellan has let it be known he plans to resume his committee investigations of the mess early next year."

"But Secretary McNamara also has let it be known that he once again will defend his decision and claim the Government not only will save a billion dollars because of the 'commonality' but that the figure will be closer now to 1.5 billion."

"This despite the fact that the chairman of the Defense Source Selection Board disposed of that argument three years ago by conceding that the accepted design had more interchangeable parts but that they added 1,450 pounds to the already overweight design for the Navy craft. And he testified before the McClellan committee that the so-called interchangeable parts advantage lay mainly in parts which seldom need to be replaced because they get broken only when the plane is destroyed."

"There has been a strong odor of politics in this whole defense contract and those who sniffed it three years ago are getting nauseated now by the stench that the tests have developed."

"The defense secretary, who is reputed to have a computer-like mind, needs to be reprogrammed. And it is up to Congress to see to it that this job is done before the military is caught short of war-worthy aircraft as well as cotton pants."

Three Debt

An economist with more than ordinary ability to state things succinctly and picturesquely said recently that there are three debt limits — the legal limit, the "sky" limit and the collapse limit.

In the United States, the federal legal limit stretches worse than a rubber band. Every time the government decides it wants to go deeper into debt, Congress raises the limit. It used to be $50 million. It might be 10 times that now. Who knows? You don't, if you haven't asked lately.

We have reached and passed the legal limit a great many times. We have gone above the "sky" limit. The collapse or economic limit will get us if we don't watch out.

Exactly What Is 'Right To Strike'

Freedom Makes Government Control Hard

JUST WHAT, exactly, is the "right to strike?" Where is it defined in the law, and what limits are there to it? How can the Government make people work? These questions and others like them had an immediate interest as Congress confronted the long-drawn-out airlines strike and a growing number of walkouts by public service workers in various cities.

The original United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights said nothing about a "right to strike." The Wagner Labor Act of 1935 used the phrase "right to strike" but did not define it.

Some lawyers have argued that the "right to strike" really is only a slogan. Others point to the 13th Amendment to the Constitution. This is the amendment adopted in 1865 which says that "neither slavery nor involuntary servitude . . . shall exist in the United States . . ."

EVERY AMERICAN is free to hunt for a job, to accept employment, and to leave it. He may enter into agreement modifying this independence, but penalty for non-performance will be civil. He will not go to jail.

In the primary sense a strike occurs when one or more workers leave their jobs in order to persuade one or more employers to offer better terms. No union needs to be involved. Non-union workers have the same freedom that union workers have.

This freedom of Government not to work makes Government "control" of strikes difficult. Government can control the use of property and it can control the activities of associations such as unions. The Federal Government in wartime cases has operated mines and administered factories to serve the public interest.

But President Truman ran into trouble back in the post-war 40's when he proposed to enroll workers into the Army to keep railroads running. President Kennedy in 1961 had to persuade civilian workers not to walk off missile base sites. Even though the continuing construction of missile bases without delay was considered of critical national importance at the time, President Kennedy limited his tactics to persuasion.

Most labor law deals with unions. Unions, like corporations, are creatures of law and subject to it. The Norris-La Guardia law of 1932 exempts unions from anti-trust restrictions. The Wagner Labor Act of 1935 guarantees unions the right to conduct collective bargaining. The Railroad Labor Act of 1926 imposes delays and cooling-off periods on union negotiations.

But the primary right to strike — if there is such a right — belongs to individuals and not to unions or associations or brotherhoods.

President Johnson said in his State of the Union message to Congress last January that he would "ask Congress to consider measures which . . . will enable us effectively to deal with strikes which threaten irremediable damage to the national interest."

Since then the President has kept a committee of distinguished lawyers looking for things to propose. The committee is composed of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, Presidential Counsel Clark Clifford, and others. But so far no recommendations have come forth.

If Congress and the President cannot make workers work, what then can they do?

They can take sides in disputes, for one thing. They can mold public opinion. They can employ very stern persuasion. This year President Johnson sought to limit in advance the area for current collective bargaining by laying down guidelines, or limits, for wage and price increases. Four years ago President Kennedy's Advisory Committee on Labor - Management Policy sought to give Presidential emergency boards power to recommend specific terms for labor settlements. In 1963 Congress required a railway union to submit to arbitration.

Few of the currently debated suggestions for dealing with big or important strikes are new. But they assume fresh interest today because of the prospects of the near future.

Full employment, rising prices and high profits forecast a season of tough collective bargaining. The airlines controversy appears to be only the first. After the fall elections are out of the way contract renewals will confront the highly organized electrical workers, auto workers, telephone workers, truckers, and many other groups.

Presumably each union's bargaining committee will strive to do its best for workers it represents. Competition will stimulate desires to win bigger shares in our booming economy. Big Labor seems likely to make Big News for quite a while.

Atom Bomb's Birth. Development Given

TWO STORIES in the newspapers take me back to the troubling and exciting days when the Atomic Age was born — and when it was thrust into the central conflict of our times between Communism and a free society.

The first story reported that Dr. Lise Meitner, 87, had received the Fermi award — a gold medal and her share with two other scientists of $50,000 — for discoveries that ushered in the military and civilian uses of nuclear energy. The second story noted that Dr. Philip Morrison, who had worked on the Nagasaki bomb, would be one-half of a team examining scientific evidence used to convict atom spies Ethel and Julius Rosenberg. The material has just been declassified, on the motion of lawyers sympathetic to the Rosenbergs.

The Meitner story goes back to the days when scientists were just beginning to unlock the secrets of the atom. Dr. Meitner, because she was Jewish, had been imprisoned in Germany and then smuggled out of the country by some of her scientific colleagues. Living quietly in Copenhagen, Dr. Meitner had received a request in 1938 from Dr. Otto Hahn to evaluate experiments he had been making with Dr. F. Strassmann.

"SHE POINTED out," Dr. Hahn later told Admiral Lewis Strauss, one of the fathers of atomic research, "that what had happened was that we had fissioned the uranium atom. The use of the word 'fission' in that connection, I think was made for the first time." Let me quote from my own book, "The Greatest Plot in History."

"As a physicist Dr. Meitner was also able to do the computation necessary to a full comprehension of the experiment. She nailed home mathematically the fact that in splitting the uranium atom, a minute amount of matter was transformed into tremendous energy. Applying and confirming Einstein's formula, Dr. Meitner reported to Hahn that the energy released (e) equaled the square of the speed of light (c) squared. Light travels at the rate of 186,000 miles per second."

Leo Szilard, an atomic scientist, reported that the physics department at Princeton was "like a stirred-up ant heap" as a result of the Meitner discovery.

Sincere Men Called Foes Of Civil Rights

FOR YEARS, sincere men have been vilified as "foes of civil rights" for urging caution in hastily enacting laws which might sound good today, but which might set unpleasant precedents for tomorrow.

In the long run, such men probably will prove to be the real friends of civil rights or of opportunity for Negroes and other minorities.

Striking proof of this is available in several of our leading and most politically liberal universities where, a recent report shows, there is deep concern over what might be called boomerang racism.

The boomerang involves the "racial census" required of universities which have contracts for government research. This so-called census is supposed to make sure that the university getting federal funds is giving jobs to members of minority groups.

IN ORDER to provide this census, university authorities must either ask their staff members if they belong to a minority group or go ahead and make assumptions about the matter on their own.

An official at Stanford University puts it in stark terms: "Must we accept the self-defeating paradox that bias can be eliminated only by obligatory discrimination, even if this now claims to be only descriptive for purposes of enforcement? A generation ago, how many Jews would have relished being regis-

ery. He informed Mr. Strauss that Dr. Meitner's computations could lead to the large-scale production of energy and "perhaps to atomic bombs."

As a result of the excitement in scientific circles, Dr. Albert Einstein was asked to write President Roosevelt a letter urging the creation of what later became the Manhattan Project, which made the first atomic bombs.

The second story is significant because it shows the differences between the scientist who remains aloof from political involvement and the one who uses his knowledge and prestige to further non-scientific causes. Dr. Morrison fitted into the second category. At the time he joined the Los Alamos atom project, he was — as he later testified — a member of the Communist Party. Both Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, director at Los Alamos, and General Leslie Groves, who ran the Manhattan Project, were aware of Dr. Morrison's "background" when he was hired. After the war, Morrison was appointed by General Groves to a committee considering the international control of nuclear energy.

It was in that atmosphere — of selfless scholarship and political bias — that the atomic bombs were developed. Dr. Meitner was the theoretician. Dr. Morrison the man of political action. Dr. Meitner has earned the Fermi prize and is today a widely respected scientist emeritus. Dr. Morrison, though still part of the scientific community, has reportedly moved to support lawyers for the Rosenbergs, and their co-defendant, Morton Sobell, in an attempt to impeach the devastating testimony at the Rosenberg trial of David Greenglass, the government's star witness.

Dr. Morrison's considerable scientific gifts, according to Sobell's lawyers, will therefore be devoted to the cause of men who have been judged by the American courts to be part of a conspiracy to steal America's atomic secrets. What Dr. Morrison can do, other than to cast a shadow over a minor portion of the Rosenberg trial testimony, will not free the Rosenbergs of their guilt. But it may give organized anti-American organizations and groups, both here and abroad, a chance to launch another propaganda war against the United States.

THE PROBLEM, he says, is "just who is a Negro? Most of us have a stereotype in mind. My first anxiety is the reinforcement of that unrealistic stereotype by the force of law. . . I am certain there can be no such definition under federal law; if there were, it would be repugnant to almost all of us."

He has perceived what many of us earnestly warned against so long ago: the real danger of creating a form of federal racism by regulation.

FROM THE University of California at Berkeley comes an equally clear alarm signal — and heaven knows Berkeley is the last place in the world you would expect to hear such a thing unless the alarms were just too obvious to ignore. It is reported that its department of anthropology, the part of the school that should be most expert in such matters, has flatly refused to go along with this federal racial census. They, too, must see that even the supposedly high-minded purpose of such a census does nothing but conceal a low blow against real freedom.

The ideal of a free society should be a community that is color blind, not one that is jammed into rigid molds of government labels and racial matters. The tragedy of such matters is that it takes some people so long to appreciate the difference between a genuine concern for freedom and equal opportunity and the sensational but shallow politicking that promises pie-in-the-sky but delivers only a mess of red tape.

M'Namara's TFX Skeleton

If anyone ever had a skeleton he would like to hide in a closet, it surely must be Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Defense. And the skeleton he would like to hide is the TFX fiasco, sometimes described as "McNamara's TFX Folly." But who ever heard of being able to hide a vast array of planes costing many billions of dollars in a closet.

It was back in 1962 that McNamara and his Whiz Kids of the Defense Department came up with the idea of a dual-purpose military airplane — dubbed at that time the TFX (technical fighter experimental) — which would involve a multi-billion dollar contract to supply one aircraft to both Air Force and Navy.

Naturally, the big question at first was who was to get the enormous contract. Rivalry narrowed to Boeing of Washington and General Dynamics of Texas. The contract went to President Johnson's home state. Many thought the apparently unjustified contract should be as big a "bug" on Johnson's back as McNamara's but it seemed easier and more convenient to let the whole thing become known as 'McNamara's TFX Folly.'

The Defense Secretary's dream of saving money by buying a dual-purpose plane went up in thin, blue smoke, which practically everyone knew before the ink had dried on the contract.

Board Is Ignored

Some members of the Senate became interested when they discovered that the contract had been let by the Defense Department despite the unanimous decision of the Pentagon Source Selection Board that the design submitted by Boeing was superior to that offered by General Dynamics, that the Boeing price was $100 million lower than the bid by General Dynamics, might run as much as $416 million lower and that Boeing had offered to build, for the same contract price, two types of planes, one specifically designed to meet the needs of the Air Force and the other designed to meet the needs of the Navy.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal recently pointed out that all of these facts were brought to public light in the lengthy hearings which were held in 1963 by a Subcommittee on Investigations of the Government Operations Committee, headed by Senator John L. McClellan, D., Ark. The Commercial Appeal said:

"The Navy had objected strongly to the TFX, largely on the basis that a plane of such design would be too heavy to land safely on carriers, but there were many other objections raised to the chosen TFX design not the least of which was that it would be far more costly than the Boeing design.

"Secretary McNamara rode roughshod over the objections of the military and the efforts of the Senate to review the matter. The Government, he claimed, would save a billion dollars on the General Dynamics design mainly because it offered 85 per cent 'commonality' of parts on the Navy and Air Force versions while the Boeing design had 'commonality' on only 60 per cent of its parts. McNamara's press agent explained 'commonality' was simply Pentagonese for interchangeable parts.

"Well, General Dynamics has been building some of these dual-purpose planes for testing.

Can't Climb High

"The third model has been able to climb to only 48,000 feet — 12,000 feet less than the Navy had specified for its purposes and 8,000 feet less than General Dynamics had promised.

"And, as the Navy had predicted, the test model weighed 14,000 pounds more than the safe weight for carrier landings. In addition, it has flunked its tests as an out-post plane to intercept enemy aircraft because it lacks sufficient fuel capacity. The test planes could not even reach their destinations, much less 'loiter' there on guard for the specified hour and a half.

"On top of all this, Chairman George H. Mahon, D., Texas, of the House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee has projected the cost of 23 TFX prototype production planes at 1.5 billion dollars, or 416 million more than had been estimated when the contract was awarded and costs still are climbing. The Navy already has scaled back procurement from 350 to less than 150 planes.

Will Resume Probe

"Senator McClellan has let it be known he plans to resume his committee investigations of the mess early next year.

"But Secretary McNamara also has let it be known that he once again will defend his decision and claim the Government not only will save a billion dollars because of the 'commonality' but that the figure will be closer now to 1.5 billion.

"This despite the fact that the chairman of the Defense Source Selection Board disposed of that argument three years ago by conceding that the accepted design had more interchangeable parts but that they added 1,450 pounds to the already overweight design for the Navy craft. And he testified before the McClellan committee that the so-called interchangeable parts advantage lay mainly in parts which seldom need to be replaced because they get broken only when the plane is destroyed.

"There has been a strong odor of politics in this whole defense contract and those who sniffed it three years ago are getting nauseated now by the stench that the tests have developed.

"The defense secretary, who is reputed to have a computer-like mind, needs to be reprogrammed. And it is up to Congress to see to it that this job is done before the military is caught short of war-worthy aircraft as well as cotton pants."

Three Debt

An economist with more than ordinary ability to state things succinctly and picturesquely said recently that there are three debt limits — the legal limit, the "sky" limit and the collapse limit.

In the United States, the federal legal limit stretches worse than a rubber band. Every time the government decides it wants to go deeper into debt, Congress raises the limit. It used to be $50 million. It might be 10 times that now. Who knows? You don't, if you haven't asked lately.

We have reached and passed the legal limit a great many times. We have gone above the "sky" limit. The collapse or economic limit will get us if we don't watch out.

Grazing Okay
In Parishes

WASHINGTON (Special) — The U. S. Department of Agriculture Friday advised cattlemen that land diverted from crop production in eight additional parishes now has grazing privileges.

The parishes include Caldwell, Lincoln, Morehouse and Union in Northeast Louisiana.

A telegram from U. S. Sens. Allen Ellender and Russell Long, and Rep. Otto Passman, noted that downward adjustments "will be made in payments to farmers if lands are grazed or harvested for hay."

The hay right is included in the permit, due to "drought conditions in North and northeastern areas of state."

The action gives ACS committees "authority to permit livestock grazing and hay harvesting on land diverted from crop production" in the named parishes "under the conservation reserve and cotton, feed grain and wheat diversion programs."

Admission
Applicants Instructed

RUSTON (Special) — Applicants for admission to the freshman class at Louisiana Tech, along with all new undergraduate students seeking to enroll at the school for the fall semester, must submit applications by Sept. 8.

The fall semester opens Sept. 13. Dr. Virgil Orr, dean of the college, said.

Failure to submit an application to the admissions office by Sept. 8 will result in a late registration and the assessment of a fee, Dean Orr said.

Packets will be prepared automatically for continuing undergraduate students who were enrolled during the spring or summer sessions of 1966. "Others should reapply," Dr. Orr said.

Beginning freshmen must have graduated from a four-year course in an accredited secondary school.

Original transcripts from the applicant's high school and from all colleges and universities attended are required from each student who applies for admission.

Transfer students must be eligible to re-enter the institution from which they are transferring as well as meet Tech's entrance requirements.

200 Negroes
Stage March

FERRIDAY (Special) — About 200 Negroes staged an uneventful march on city hall here late Friday to a handfull-audience of curious citizens.

The brief march came on the eve of the day predicted by civil rights leaders here to be the first "effective day" of the economic boycott began Wednesday.

tric storm which prompted the tornado caused considerable trouble throughout the city.

The U.S. Weather Bureau also reported a tornado being sighted at Homer in Claiborne Parish.

Approval Given

The Rev. Wayne Gentry, founder and director of the Open Door Home for destitute children, received word Friday that the home's proposed building has received approval of the state Fire Marshal and his architect consultant.

The new addition to the institution will be constructed as soon as funds are raised. The Rev. Gentry said. The home has $3,000 of the necessary $20,000.

The home decided in February to build a new fireproof building rather than attempt to install a required sprinkler system in the old structure. The executive board said the cost of installing the sprinkler system would not be profitable in the present structure.

Vacation

Due to leave this weekend on a dream vacation in the Bahamas are Mr. and Mrs. Loy Hedgepeth and daughters Karen and Kathy. Joining them will be Mrs. Hedgepeth's mother, Mrs. J. R. Gibson of Marion.

Great amounts of sight-seeing are on the agenda during the drive down to Miami, Fla. From there on, it's fun in the sun as the party takes ship Wednesday for a balmy sail to Nassau.

Hedgepeth, librarian at Crosley Elementary School in West Monroe, had only one regret — he couldn't take the school's student body with him.

Back Home

Pvt. E-2 Robert E. Blackson is home for two weeks visiting with his family and friends after completing eight weeks of basic training at Ft. Folk. For five weeks Pvt. Blackson served as one of the four leaders of his platoon, and on August 1 was made head of the platoon. On August 26 Pvt. Blackson will depart from Ft. Belvoir, Vir where he will study warehouse engineering.

Graduation

Second Lt. Nelson E. Rogers, formerly of West Monroe, recently graduated from Officer's Candidate Signal School at Fort Gordon, Ga. Franklin Board
Okays Sales Tax

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Franklin Parish School Board approved the proposed one-cent sales tax for the 5th District Friday.

The board also recommended governing bodies in each parish be given equal share of the funds left after teacher salary payment and should share in the cost of the election.

A motion to rescind the ordinance allowing students to participate in integrated activities outside of the parish failed in a five-five split vote.

S. L. Shambley, G. H. Scoggin, Leonard Jones, Otis B. Hassell, and J. C. Horne voted against the ordinance.

In favor of leaving the ordinance on the books were R. R. Marshall, Guy McLain, W. W. Scriber, R. F. Kinkaid and H. B. Wiggers. Rufus Ezell was absent.

Arkansas
Integration
Plan Due

EL DORADO (Special) — The Junction City School District No. 75 has been issued a permanent court injunction and restraining order against operating segregated schools and will have 30 days to present a plan to the court to comply with school integration laws.

Judge Oren Harris made the ruling Thursday in United States District Court after two hours of hearing both sides in the case involving the school district and the U. S. government.

Government attorney had asked the court to order immediate desegregation plans to be filed. The judge rules, however, that the school board would be given 30 days to respond.

The government will then have 30 days to respond.

Junction City schools open Aug. 29. If neither side has presented an acceptable plan in the prescribed time, the court will draft a plan.

The judge noted that one-third of the students in the Arkansas schools in Junction City are from Louisiana.

Judge Harris also said that 10 of the school district's 48 teachers are supplied by two Louisiana parishes. He also noted that Claiborne Parish nearby in Louisiana is under court order to desegregate its schools. This parish, which supplies five of the 10 Louisiana teachers in Junction City, is working on a desegregation plan.

Jury Places
Well Money
At $2,000

COLFAX (Special) — The Grant Parish police jury Friday agreed to spend $2,000 on revival of Colfax's flaming fountain, an artesian well that was a central Louisiana tourist attraction for 60 years, until it quit flowing in 1959.

The jury agreed to pay half the cost of a $4,000 test hole. The town plans to drill to a depth of 1,100 feet in an attempt to locate the strata that produced the original well.

The old well was drilled in July, 1899, in a search for drinking water. The flow was too salty for use but it also contained natural gas that could be ignited, thus the flaming fountain was born. In July, 1959, the pipe rusted and the well sanded in, cutting off the flow.

Town engineer E. F. Harris said Friday that chances of re-locating the well are better than 50-50.

In other business, the police jury was told that natural gas service for the Lincecum Community area will be in operation before winter. The report came from Pan-American Engineering Company, the firm installing the gas system.

Word from the world of furniture and interior decoration is that the look of the 30s is back. Exciting news for those of us who had never known it went away.

Three bus operators were additionally hired, with five-year contracts awarded. They were Negroes Leo Wilson, Ernest Potter and Woodrow Swayzee.

Grazing Okay In Parishes

WASHINGTON (Special) — The U. S. Department of Agriculture Friday advised cattlemen that land diverted from crop production in eight additional parishes now has grazing privileges.

The parishes include Caldwell, Lincoln, Morehouse and Union in Northeast Louisiana.

A telegram from U. S. Sens. Allen Ellender and Russell Long, and Rep. Otto Passman, noted that downward adjustments "will be made in payments to farmers if lands are grazed or harvested for hay."

The hay right is included in the permit, due to "drought conditions in North and northeastern areas of state."

The action gives ACS committees "authority to permit livestock grazing and hay harvesting on land diverted from crop production" in the named parishes "under the conservation reserve and cotton, feed grain and wheat diversion programs."

Nixon Describes
Viet Situation

TOKYO (UPI) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon Friday told Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato the political situation in Viet Nam is better than ever before, sources close to Nixon said.

According to the sources, Nixon told Sato the tide of war in Viet Nam has turned in favor of the Allied forces. But the former vice president added he believed it will be a long time before the war ends.

Nixon also said he did not agree with people who felt the Viet Nam fighting could be ended quickly, the sources reported.

Wounds 4 Persons

Negro Runs Wild
With Gun In Hand

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Screams of terror blotted out lunchtime chatter Friday as a man who had been sought for a murder burst into a factory cafeteria and began firing wildly with a revolver.

"This guy just let 'em go one after the other," said a witness. "He didn't stop."

Joseph Davis, 51, wounded three women and a man before he was himself fatally wounded by police. Only one of the wounded persons was reported in serious condition.

Police Chief Francis McManus said an intensive manhunt for the husky Negro was under way when reports of the gunfire at the Winchester-Western Division of Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp.

A warrant had been issued for Davis's arrest in connection with the slaying earlier Friday of Rebecca Wilson, who was attacked with a meat cleaver in a wooded lover's lane, police said. Mrs. Wilson was also a Negro. Davis and Mrs. Wilson had been going out together, police said. Mrs. Wilson was also a Negro.

Mrs. Wilson, married and the mother of four, worked nights as a keypunch operator at the weapons manufacturing plant of the Winchester-Western Division of Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp.

Davis had also worked as a clean-up man at the plant until recently.

A spokesman for Olin said Davis had not been an Olin employee, but had worked for an independent building maintenance company that had a contract to provide services at the factory.

"He was removed from his job here at our request earlier this week," said Thomas Bentley, company public information director. Bentley declined to say why the request was made.

Davis's shooting rampage took place in the company's clubhouse, a large cafeteria-recreation building for employees a few steps from the plant.

Since production operations at the plant are halted for the regular annual vacation shutdown, those in the clubhouse were primarily white collar workers.

As word of the firing in the clubhouse reached the plant, where many of the employees are skilled marksmen, a few took up rifles and boxes of cartridges.

They slipped over toward the clubhouse to offer back-up assistance to police in case it was needed.

The civilians didn't get involved in the shooting, however. Inside the building, Davis was cornered in a short corridor linking two lunchrooms. He darted back and forth to keep an eye on approaching police.

John (Chick) Coles, a Negro detective who knew Davis, took cover behind a projecting wall and called to Davis repeatedly to give up.

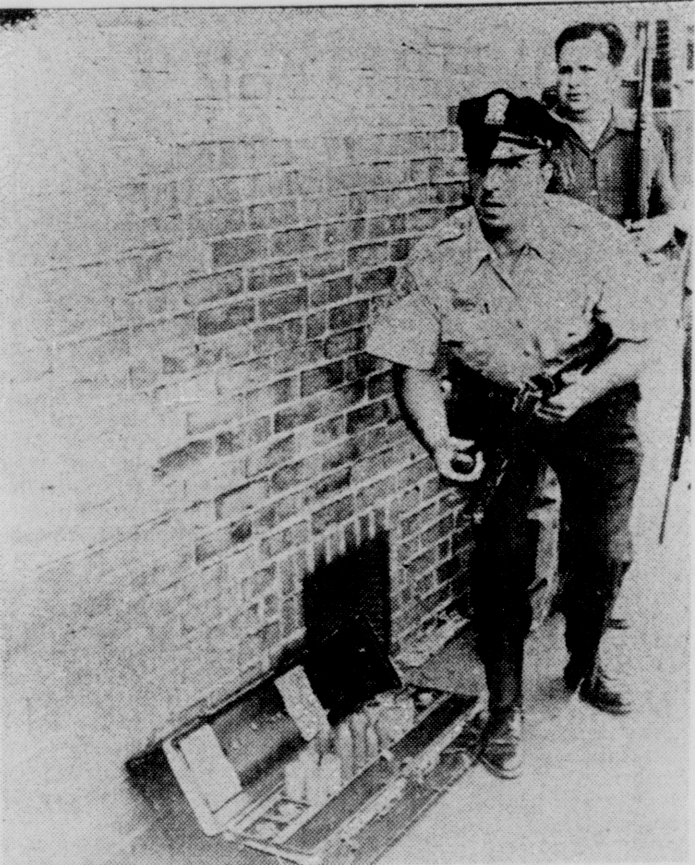

"Chick finally stepped out — exposed himself — and said 'Joe, come on out,' said officer William Rhone. 'Joe fired at him and that's when we opened up.'"

Sgt. John Widmann, who turned a table on its side and used it as a shield to move in on Davis, was credited with firing the first of the several shots that hit him.

Coles said he had known Davis well.

"Just a matter of two weeks ago," he said, "we rode home together, talked together and passed the time of day."

But when his efforts to talk Davis into surrendering only drew bullets in reply, Coles said, he and other officers had no choice but to shoot.

POLICEMAN JOHN Borzain readies tear gas gun as police descend on cafeteria of gun manufacturing company where four employees — three women and one man — were shot and wounded by man on rampage. The assailant, identified as Joseph Davis, was shot dead by another police officer. (AP Wirephoto)

Non-Chewing Directive
Makes Stick Situation

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A sticky situation has developed over a memorandum calling on employees in the North Carolina Highway Commission's purchasing division to stop chewing gum on the job.

One employee said Purchasing Agent W.G. Reeves had gumbled up the works with his directive.

In calling for an end to gum chewing in his department, Reeves said:

"I do not think this practice is conducive to good office etiquette. Your cooperation will be very much appreciated in the discontinuance of this practice immediately."

Reeves hinted his directive may have lost some of its flavor on the bedpost overnight.

"I don't want to comment on this any more," he said Friday. "I don't want to create any dissension in the department."

A number of purchasing employees made it plain they did not like the memorandum.

"When I examined his body," he said, "I noticed there was a shot in the chest area to which I had fired. From where I fired you couldn't have missed him."

The most seriously injured of the shooting victims was Helen Koch, 51, a secretary. She underwent surgery for several hours after being shot.

Jonathan Miller, a research technician, was hit in the abdomen but was released from Yale-New Haven Hospital after treatment.

Miriam Chernoff, a secretary, was hit in the right arm and Eunice Connor, a librarian's assistant, was wounded in the shoulder and wrist. Both were reported in satisfactory condition at Yale-New Haven.

Earthquakes

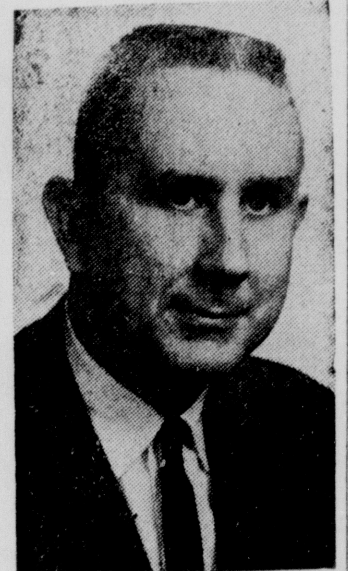

MOSCOW (UPI) — Earthquakes struck two Soviet provincial capitals Friday.

Six new tremors Thursday and Friday rattled Tashkent, the capital of Soviet Uzbekistan, which has been badly damaged by four months of quakes.

Another quake struck Alma Ata, the capital of Kazakhstan, 400 miles away.

There was no indication of new damage or injuries in Tashkent. Tass, the Soviet news agency, said that "no damage is reported" in Alma Ata.

Nixon Describes Viet Situation

TOKYO (UPI) —Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon Friday told Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato the political situation in Viet Nam is better than ever before, sources close to Nixon said.

According to the sources, Nixon told Sato the tide of war in Viet Nam has turned in favor of the Allied forces. But the former vice president added he believed it will be a long time before the war ends.

Nixon also said he did not agree with people who felt the Viet Nam fighting could be ended quickly, the sources reported.

Research Ship

TOKYO (AP) — Tokyo University's Ocean Research Institute has announced plans to build a 3,200-ton oceanographic research ship at a cost of about $4.6 million. The ship is scheduled to be launched in November and completed next May.

Wounds 4 Persons

Negro Runs Wild With Gun In Hand

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Screams of terror blotted out lunchtime chatter Friday as a man who had been sought for a murder burst into a factory cafeteria and began firing wildly with a revolver.

"This guy just let 'em go one after the other," said a witness. "He didn't stop."

Joseph Davis, 51, wounded three women and a man before he was himself fatally wounded by police. Only one of the wounded persons was reported in serious condition.

Police Chief Francis McManus said an intensive manhunt for the husky Negro was under way when reports of the gunfire at the Winchester clubhouse were received.

A warrant had been issued for Davis' arrest in connection with the slaying earlier Friday of Rebecca Wilson, who was attacked with a meat cleaver in a wooded lover's lane, police said. Mrs. Wilson was also a Negro. Davis and Mrs. Wilson had been going out together, police said. Mrs. Wilson was also a Negro.

Mrs. Wilson, married and the mother of four, worked nights as a keypunch operator at the weapons manufacturing plant of the Winchester-Western Division of Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp.

Davis had also worked as a clean-up man at the plant until recently.

A spokesman for Olin said Davis had not been an Olin employee, but had worked for an independent building maintenance company that had a contract to provide services at the factory.

"He was removed from his job here at our request earlier this week," said Thomas Bentley, company public information director. Bentley declined to say why the request was made.

Davis' shooting rampage took place in the company's clubhouse, a large cafeteria-recreation building for employees a few steps from the plant.

Since production operations at the plant are halted for the regular annual vacation shutdown, those in the clubhouse were primarily white collar workers.

As word of the firing in the clubhouse reached the plant, where many of the employees are skilled marksmen, a few took up rifles and boxes of cartridges.

They slipped over toward the clubhouse to offer back-up assistance to police in case it was needed.

The civilians didn't get involved in the shooting, however. Inside the building, Davis was cornered in a short corridor linking two lunchrooms. He darted back and forth to keep an eye on approaching police.

John (Chick) Coles, a Negro detective who knew Davis, took cover behind a projecting wall and called to Davis repeatedly to give up.

"Chick finally stepped out — exposed himself — and said 'Joe, come on out,' said officer William Rhone. 'Joe fired at him and that's when we opened up.'"

Sgt. John Widmann, who turned a table on its side and used it as a shield to move in on Davis, was credited with firing the first of the several shots that hit him.

Coles said he had known Davis well.

"Just a matter of two weeks ago," he said, "we rode home together, talked together and passed the time of day."

But when his efforts to talk Davis into surrendering only drew bullets in reply, Coles said, he and other officers had no choice but to shoot.

POLICEMAN JOHN Borzain readies tear gas gun as police descend on cafeteria of gun manufacturing company where four employees — three women and one man — were shot and wounded by man on rampage. The assailant, identified as Joseph Davis, was shot dead by another police officer. (AP Wirephoto)

Non-Chewing Directive Makes Stick Situation

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A sticky situation has developed over a memorandum calling on employees in the North Carolina Highway Commission's purchasing division to stop chewing gum on the job.

One employee said Purchasing Agent W.G. Reeves had gumbled up the works with his directive.

In calling for an end to gum chewing in his department, Reeves said:

"I do not think this practice is conducive to good office etiquette. Your cooperation will be very much appreciated in the discontinuance of this practice immediately."

Reeves hinted his directive may have lost some of its flavor on the bedpost overnight.

"I don't want to comment on this any more," he said Friday. "I don't want to create any dissension in the department."

A number of purchasing employees made it plain they did not like the memorandum.

"When I examined his body," he said, "I noticed there was a shot in the chest area to which I had fired. From where I fired you couldn't have missed him."

The most seriously injured of the shooting victims was Helen Koch, 51, a secretary. She underwent surgery for several hours after being shot.

Jonathan Miller, a research technician, was hit in the abdomen but was released from Yale-New Haven Hospital after treatment.

Miriam Chernoff, a secretary, was hit in the right arm and Eunice Connor, a librarian's assistant, was wounded in the shoulder and wrist. Both were reported in satisfactory condition at Yale-New Haven.

Earthquakes

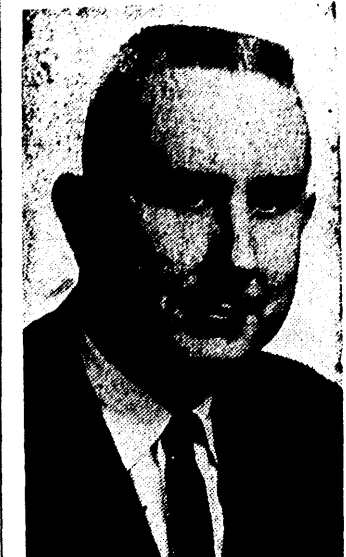

MOSCOW (UPI) — Earthquakes struck two Soviet provincial capitals Friday.

Six new tremors Thursday and Friday rattled Tashkent, the capital of Soviet Uzbekistan, which has been badly damaged by four months of quakes.

Another quake struck Alma Ata, the capital of Kazakhstan, 400 miles away.

There was no indication of new damage or injuries in Tashkent. Tass, the Soviet news agency, said that "no damage is reported" in Alma Ata.

Election Day Noted Here By Official

District Attorney Albin Lassiter Friday reminded politicians that electioneering is prohibited within 50 feet of polling places.

He quoted the applicable law — Title 18, Section 1534 of Louisiana Revised Statutes.

Specifically, the law declares: "It shall be unlawful, except as otherwise provided herein, for any person, between the hours of 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. on the day on which is being held any primary, general or special election, to perform or cause to be performed, any of the following acts within a radius of 300 feet of any polling place being used in such election:

(1) To solicit in any manner, or by any means whatsoever, any other person to vote for or against any candidate or proposition being voted on in such election, or

(2) To loiter within the above described area of any such polling place, or

(3) To hand out campaign cards, pictures, or other campaign literature, of any kind or description whatsoever, or

(4) to place or display political signs, pictures, or other form of political advertising."

Consumers Union Hit By Booth

R. A. (Bob) Booth, manager of the Ouachita Parish and Shreveport Better Business Bureaus, spoke at the noon meeting of the Monroe and West Monroe Advertising Clubs Friday.

Booth talked on the dangers presented by the Consumers Union. He said that the Consumers Union advocated federal regulations and restrictions regarding freedom of advertising.

Booth said this was a direct threat to advertising. "I don't know what might happen to advertising in the next few years if something isn't done about giving the consumer more voice," he said. "When advertising goes," he said, "everything goes."

What makes a great Senator?

Senator Allen J. Ellender

Ability . . . experience . . . seniority . . . and a close working partnership with the other U.S. Senators. Louisiana's Senator Allen J. Ellender has all these qualities. This fact is best proven by the comments of the men who know Senator Ellender best, his colleagues in the U.S. Senate:

"No Senator works harder at the job of being a Senator than does Senator Ellender. He has been able, year after year, to guide through some of the most difficult legislation in the field of agriculture that any chairman has ever been called upon to shoulder."

Senator MIKE MANSFIELD, Montana (Majority Leader)

"The Senator from Louisiana works untiringly in order to be familiar with the whole range of subjects presented before him . . . I compliment the Senator on his skill and knowledge . . ."

Senator EVERETT DIRKSEN, Illinois (Minority Leader)

"In my opinion no one in Congress has been more interested in the welfare of the people of this country, and especially the handling of water resources . . . than has been the senior Senator from Louisiana."

Senator STUART SYMINGTON, Missouri

"During his 12 years as Chairman of the Public Works Appropriations Subcommittee he has done more for the development of our Nation's rivers and harbors than probably any other individual member of Congress."

Senator ALAN BIBLE, Nevada

Throughout his five terms in the United States Senate, Allen J. Ellender has dedicated himself to the preservation of America's two greatest resources—soil and water. His efforts have been of immeasurable benefit to Louisiana and the nation. Senator Allen J. Ellender has earned your continuing trust and support.

Davis Cup Matches Get Started Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — A pair of 6-foot-2 power hitters, Dennis Ralston and Clark Graebner, will play singles for the United States today against Rafael Osuna and Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico in the American Zone Davis Cup tennis final.

Drawings made Friday send Graebner against 5-foot-6 Loyo-Mayo in the opener of the three-day competition. The second match today has Ralston against Osuna, both veterans of Davis Cup play, renewing a long rivalry in which Ralston has held the upper hand.

2 Former Champions Grab Wins

SEWICKLEY, Pa. (AP) — A pair of former champions scrambled their way to 1-up victories Friday and earn places in the championship match of the USA women's Amateur Golf Championship.

Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streif of Willowdale, Ont., will meet Mrs. JoAnne Carner of Seattle, Wash., Saturday in the 36-hole windup at Sewickley Heights Golf Club.

It will be a rematch of their meeting for the title 10 years ago. Mrs. Streif won then, but Mrs. Carner has won the title three times since that contest.

In Friday's semifinals, Mrs. Carner eliminated Mrs. Barbara Fay Boddie of Shreveport, La., and Mrs. Streif ousted Miss Roberta Albers of Tampa, Fla.

Both Mrs. Carner and Mrs. Streif had rounds of 77 Friday, four-over-par on the 6,120-yard course.

Mrs. Carner, trying to become the second woman to win this tournament more than three times, was only 17 when she played Mrs. Streif in 1956.

Mrs. Carner never trailed in her match with Mrs. Boddie, but it was tied three different times.

The key hole was the 14th, where Mrs. Boddie appeared ready to take the lead for the first time, only to lose the hole.

Mrs. Boddie's second shot on the 435-yard par 3 skipped through a lake and landed about 30 yards short of the green. Mrs. Carner's third shot was short of the green, just off the front edge.

But Mrs. Boddie hit a wedge to the rear of the green and three-putted for a bogey 6. Mrs. Carner chipped to within two feet of the hole and made the putt for a par.

Mrs. Streif held a 3-up lead at the turn over Miss Albers, but had to struggle when the University of Miami coed fired a one-under-par 36 on the back nine.

Mrs. Streif said a 35-foot putt for her only birdie on the 12th hole was the most important shot in the round.

Bogeys on the 15th and 17th holes by Mrs. Streif enabled Miss Albers to narrow the gap. But Mrs. Streif sank an eight-foot putt to salvage a half on No. 16 and then lagged a 50-foot putt to within a foot on the 18th.

Miss Albers, who had a 36 on the back nine, was the most important shot in the round.

Frank Robinson Gives Orioles 2-1 Win In 1st Game, Lose 2nd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Robinson's two-run homer gave the Orioles a 2-1 victory over the Senators in the first game of a two-night double header in Washington Friday night, but the Senators came back to win the nightcap 4-1 behind homers by Ken Harrelson, Fred Valentine and Jim King.

Robinson's homer, his 34th, off Pete Richert in the third inning gave Moe Drabowsky a victory in his first start of the season. Drabowsky singled Washington in the first game ahead of Robinson's homer.

John Miller pitched one-hit ball through four innings of the second game and had a 1-0 lead when Don Lock doubled in the ninth inning.

Eddie Fisher was called in to face Harrelson, and Brooks Robinson saved the tying run when he held Harrelson's high-bouncing chopper to a single, preventing Lock from scoring.

Paul Casanova then bounced back to Fisher for the final out. Two of the five hits off Drabowsky were by Richert, the losing pitcher.

Frank Robinson dropped Bob Saverine's fly to left with two on and one out in the third, permitting Richert to score the Senators' only run.

Baltimore won 2-1. Washington won 4-1. The Orioles' record is 1-0. The Senators' record is 0-1.

Tommy Mason Describes Tarkenton Antics 'Like Backyard Touch Game'

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — "It's something like a backyard touch game."

Tommy Mason was talking about the antics of Fran Tarkenton, the scrambling quarterback of the Minnesota Vikings.

"Francis has a feel for it," said the Vikings' prize halfback. "He seems to know just how far he can go and when he has to get rid of the ball. There is nobody else like him."

For years the wise guys in the National Football League have watched Tarkenton run and warned, "the kid is going to get killed."

Tarkenton, a 6-foot, 190-pounder, is built more like a halfback than a quarterback. This is his sixth year of pro ball, and he has been hurt only once. "I've been lucky," said Tarkenton at the Vikings' training camp. "I got knocked out once in Chicago in 1963, but I got back in the game later. It's the only time I've missed any part of a game due to injuries."

"Getting hit is part of the game. It is when you don't expect to get hit that you get hurt."

Despite the scrambling, Tarkenton considers himself a drop passer.

"I seldom run on a rollout or bootleg," he said. "When I run I am reaching to a situation. It is never by design."

"I probably throw about 25 times a game on an average, and I run only four or five times. My basic belief is to stay in the pocket and pass. That is all fine and good if you can stay in the pocket."

"But those other teams give you such great pass rushes that you have to get out. Rudy Bukich of the Bears is a drop back passer, but he scrambled more than ever before last year. Bart Starr averages about nine yards a carry. Johnny Unitas rolls out and runs the bootleg. Charley Johnson scrambles."

"It is a great attribute to avoid the breakdown of a play. Baltimore's defensive line is built for the pass rush. They are lighter and smaller but quicker. I get rid of the ball quicker against them. I think all quarterbacks are running more these days although Otto Graham used to run and Tobin Moe did too."

Tarkenton probably throws the ball to his running backs more than any quarterback in the league. It is done with a reason.

"It is a terribly effective weapon," he said. "When they go out as receivers it opens up the zones for the ends. The more I throw to Tommy Mason and Bill Brown the more points we score."

"We feel we can score on anybody at any time. Our versatile attack is Van Brocklin's (Coach Norm Van Brocklin) thinking. I am almost a robot. My philosophy is his. Nobody could pick a team to death like he could."

Yankees Fall To Cleveland As Bell Wins

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Bell got late inning relief help from Bob Allen and Luis Tiant and earned his 13th victory of the season Friday night as the Cleveland Indians edged the New York Yankees 3-2.

Bell was working on a four-hitter and leading 3-0 with two out in the eighth when three straight singles by Horace Clarke, Mickey Mantle and Joe Pepitone gave New York its first run. Roger Maris tagged Allen for another run-scoring single but Jake Gibbs bounced out, ending the rally. Tiant pitched the ninth.

Perry Wins 18th Game; Mays' Homer Difference

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The victory tied Perry with Willie Mays' 27th homer of the season and 532nd of his career, the winningest pitcher in the majors. Juan Marchal of the Houston Astros Friday night.

Mays' shot, leading off the ninth inning against Mike Cuellar, pulled him within two of Jimmy Fox, who holds second place on the all-time homer list with 534.

It was only the fourth hit off Cuellar. Perry, who won his 18th game in 20 decisions, hurled a three-hitter.

Kansas City Cracks Miami's Defense To Take 33-0 Victory

MIAMI (UPI)—Kansas City's racy Chiefs made the most of their big plays to crack a tough but inexperienced Miami Dolphins defense Friday night for a 33-0 exhibition victory over Miami's brand new American Football League entry.

The Chiefs' own tried and true defense kept the Dolphins winless for a second straight time in pre-season trials. This spoiled Miami's first home

Yastrzemski Paces Boston To Victory Over Detroit, 13-9

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski lined four straight hits, scored three runs and drove in a pair Friday night, helping the Boston Red Sox to a 13-9 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Yastrzemski had three singles and a double before being called out on strikes while facing southpaw Mickey Lolich, the fifth Detroit pitcher, in the seventh inning.

The Red Sox who tallied in each of the last five innings in a 13-3 romp over Cleveland Thursday night, scored in every inning except the fourth posting their fifth triumph in six games.

Every Red Sox starter except the pitcher hit safely. Bob Tillman had a homer and two singles, George Scott a pair of runs.

Keino Made Big Favorite In Kingston

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Kipchoge Keino of Kenya, the fourth fastest miler in history, ran a solid three minutes, 57.4 second-mile in a qualifying heat Friday in the British Empire games.

The showing stamped Keino a clear-cut favorite in Saturday's final. He was the only runner to break four minutes in the heats.

"This track is one of the fastest I have ever run on," said Keino, whose best time of 3:54.2 ranks only behind Jim Ryun of the University of Kansas, Michel Jazy of France and Peter Snell of New Zealand. Ryun holds the world record of 3:51.3.

Wendell Mottley of Trinidad and Tobago caused a brief uproar when he won the 440-yard dash and then refused to mount the victory dais until a broken flag pole was mended so the Trinidad flag could be raised.

The ceremony was postponed until today.

Mottley finished in 45.2, a new Games record. Teammate Kent Bernard was second in 46.1 and Dom Domansky of Canada third in 46.4.

Pete Buckley of the Isle of Man captured the gruelling 120-mile cycling road race in five hours, seven minutes and 52 seconds. Des Thompson of New Zealand was second and teammate Laurie Byers third.

Rain-slick roads caused numerous crack-ups that forced out about two-thirds of the starting field of 47.

Quarterback Len Dawson put the chiefs on the scoreboard first with a 15-yard pass to Chris Burford at the end of an 80-yard drive in the first period. Kansas City made its own breaks for the next two scores.

Line - bucking Bert Coan

scored for the Chiefs after a fumble on the Dolphin 12-yard line and rookie halfback Wendell Tucker set up a second Coan scoring plunge with a 40-yard kick return, both in the second quarter.

A picked-off lateral pass on the Dolphin 20 let lumbering Kansas City end Chuck Hurston into the end zone untouched in the third period.

Tommy Brooker kicked conversions after the first three touchdowns and booted field goals of 46 and 37 yards in the second half for a nine-point scoring total.

Dawson tried to pass for the other touchdown conversion but missed.

Snappy Passes

Miami ends got their big thrill when $300,000 Dolphin rookie Rick Norton took over quarterbacking in the final period and drove the home-towners 69 yards with snappy passes of 15, 22 and 34 yards.

But the Chiefs muffed the drive by smashing through the Dolphin line to smear Norton after Miami had penetrated Kansas City 10.

Norton had one of his passes intercepted later and so did two more of the four quarterbacks given a try for Miami — Eddie Wilson and Dick Wood. Only George Wilson Jr., son of the Miami coach, threw true to his men. But it was his fumble that set up Coan's first scoring dash of five yards.

Miami lost 38 - 10 to San Diego in its first game. Kansas City won its exhibition opener 32-30 against Denver last week.

Stillwell Gets Upset Victory In Tourney

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Graham Stillwell, a 20-year-old junior member of the British Davis Cup squad, upset his eighth-seeded countryman, Mark Cox, 6-3, 6-4 Friday in the quarter-finals of the 77th Meadow Club Grass Court Tennis Tournament.

Stillwell will meet the winner of another quarter-final being played today between Alan Stone of Australia and George Seewegen Jr. of Bayside, N.Y.

Stillwell, who eliminated third-seeded Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., winner of last week's Nassau Bowl tournament, to reach the quarters, pounced on a weak service by Cox and earned the victory.

Cox, a left-hander, missed with his first service most of the day. He was broken in the fourth and sixth games of the first set as Stillwell returned the second serve for placements.

Cox broke Stillwell's service in the fifth game of the opening set with passing shots and a backhand error by Stillwell.

But after regaining the service break lead in the sixth game when Cox missed a ground stroke at game point, Stillwell held with loss of one point in each of the seventh and ninth games for the set.

Stillwell won three of his five service games in the second set at love and broke through Cox in the seventh game when Cox made overhead and backhand errors.

Casper Gets Stroke Lead In Thunderbird

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Bill Casper's allergies were dormant but his putter was breathing fire Friday and the National Open champion with the strange eating habits took a one-stroke lead after 36 holes in the $100,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic.

Knocking in six birdie putts of from 6 to 20 feet and three-putting only when he tried to swat a buzzing bee, Casper shot a four-under-par 68 over the Upper Montclair Country Club course for a halfway total of 138.

This gave him a one-shot edge over bespectacled Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and Babe Lichardus, a 37-year-old assistant pro from nearby Deal, N.J.

Rudolph blew his chances for the lead with bogeys at the 16th and 17th holes and finished with a 70. Lichardus, even with Casper through 14 holes, hit a ball in the water at the 190-yard 15th, misjudging his club, but still surged in with a 68.

George Knudson, a slender Canadian with a Beatle haircut and ever-present sun glasses, was fourth with a 71 for 140.

"It was a quiet round," said the 29-year-old Toronto pro, who missed only two greens and got up and down to save his par on both occasions. He had two birdies, one on a putt of 50 feet, and a three-putt bogey.

The game's two muscle men — Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer — failed to make a comeback surge although Nicklaus refused to count himself out of contention.

Big Jack, three-putting two of the first four greens but nailing an eagle on the 535-yard seventh, finished with an even par 72 for 143.

Palmer, who sprayed five bogeys Thursday while wincing from a sore left shoulder, shot a steady 72, with one birdie and one par, for his second straight 72 and a score of 144.

Asked if he still thought he had a chance, Palmer said, "You can't ever tell."

"I feel much better — my burps didn't bother me much today," he said. "Still, it was a pretty scratchy round."

Nicklaus said menacingly: "Five shots back? No, I don't count myself out. I was that far back in 1962 and I shot a 65 the

Mets Erupt In 3rd, Down St. Louis, 6-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The New York Mets exploded for five runs in the third inning and right-hander Jack Fisher continued his master of the St. Louis Cardinals, defeating them 6-2 Friday night.

The Mets pounded on an old nemesis, Ray Washburn, beating him for only the second time in 10 tries. Washburn and Ron Piche were the victims of the five-run outburst.

Fisher downed the Cards for the third time in four decisions this season.

In the third inning, the Mets collected five singles and a double. Larry Elliot's two-bagger drove in two runs and Al Luplow and Jerry Grote each singled a run across.

Ed Kranepool socked a solo homer in the seventh, his 12th of the season.

The Cards got a run in the fourth. Tim McCarver batted in a run in the eighth with his third single.

Lou Brock, the majors' top base stealer, swiped his 49th of the season and extended his hitting streak to 17 games with three straight singles.

Kansas City Cracks Miami's Defense To Take 33-0 Victory

MIAMI (UPI)—Kansas City's show in the Orange Bowl before 34,277 fans — second best AFL exhibition crowd ever. Quarterback Len Dawson put the Chiefs on the scoreboard first with a 15-yard pass to Chris Burford at the end of an 80-yard drive in the first period. Kansas City made its own breaks for the next two scores.

The Chiefs' own tried and true defense kept the Dolphins winless for a second straight time in pre-season trials. This spoiled Miami's first home scored for the Chiefs after a fumble on the Dolphin 12-yard line and rookie halfback Wendell Tucker set up a second Coan scoring plunge with a 40-yard kick return, both in the second quarter.

A picked-off lateral pass on the Dolphin 20 let lumbering Kansas City end Chuck Hurston into the end zone untouched in the third period.

Tommy Brooker kicked conversions after the first three touchdowns and booted field goals of 46 and 37 yards in the second half for a nine-point scoring total.

Dawson tried to pass for the other touchdown conversion but missed.

Snappy Passes

Miami ends got their big thrill when $300,000 Dolphin rookie Rick Norton took over quarterbacking in the final period and drove the home-owners 69 yards with snappy passes of 15, 22 and 34 yards.

But the Chiefs muffed the drive by smashing through the Dolphin line to smear Norton after Miami had penetrated Kansas City 10.

Norton had one of his passes intercepted later and so did two more of the four quarterbacks given a try for Miami — Eddie Wilson and Dick Wood. Only George Wilson Jr., son of the Miami coach, threw true to his men. But it was his fumble that set up Coan's first scoring dash of five yards.

Miami lost 38-10 to San Diego in its first game. Kansas City won its exhibition opener 32-30 against Denver last week.

Yastrzewski Paces Boston To Victory Over Detroit, 13-9

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzewski lined four straight hits, scored three runs and drove in a pair Friday night, helping the Boston Red Sox to a 13-9 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Yastrzewski had three singles and a double before being called out on strikes while facing southpaw Mickey Lolich, the fifth Detroit pitcher, in the seventh inning.

The Red Sox who tallied in each of the last five innings in a 13-3 romp over Cleveland Thursday night, scored in every inning except the fourth posting their fifth triumph in six games.

Every Red Sox starter except the pitcher hit safely. Bob Tillman had a homer and two singles, George Scott a pair of runs.

Keino Made Big Favorite In Kingston

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Kipchoge Keino of Kenya, the fourth fastest miler in history, ran a solid three minutes, 57.4 seconds-mile in a qualifying heat Friday in the British Empire games.

The showing stamped Keino a clear-cut favorite in Saturday's final. He was the only runner to break four minutes in the heats.

"This track is one of the fastest I have ever run on," said Keino, whose best time of 3:54.2 ranks only behind Jim Ryun of the University of Kansas, Michel Jazy of France and Peter Snell of New Zealand. Ryun holds the world record of 3:51.3.

Wendell Mottley of Trinidad and Tobago caused a brief uproar when he won the 440-yard dash and then refused to break the victory flag until a broken flag pole was mended so the Trinidad flag could be raised.

The ceremony was postponed until today.

Mottley finished in 45.2, a new games record. Teammate Kent Bernard was second in 46.1 and Dom Domansky of Canada third in 46.4.

Pete Buckley of the Isle of Man captured the grueling 120-mile cycling road race in five hours, seven minutes and 52 seconds. Des Thompson of New Zealand was second and teammate Laurie Byers third.

Rain-slick roads caused numerous crack-ups that forced out about two-thirds of the starting field of 47.

Buckley, not stopping to eat and rest with the others, pedaled away in the last 40 miles and finished alone.

Wossman Grid Hopefuls Report

All Wossman High School football players are requested to meet at the field house at Jefferson Junior High School at 2 p.m. Coach Willie Reagan said Friday.

Reagan also said that the boys should bring their insurance and medical forms at this time, where a short meeting will be held.

producing singles and a sacrifice fly and Don Demeter two-run-scoring singles.

Boston, which had four sacrifice flies, one short of the major league record set by the Chicago White Sox in 1924, capitalized on a pair of errors by Detroit first baseman Norm Cash for two unearned runs in the third and three in the sixth.

Don Wert led the Tigers' attack with a pair of doubles and a pair of singles. Jim Northrup had two doubles and a single.

Falcons Try Out Defense With 49ers

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons, surprisingly tough on defense, hope to put more punch in their offense tonight in a National Football League exhibition battle with the New York Giants in Nashville.

The Giants, who scored a 16-14 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers in their only exhibition test, also plan to do some juggling against the NFL's newest team.

The Falcons, led by defensive halfback Ron Smith, lost only 9-7 to the Philadelphia Eagles and were beaten 20-10 last week by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Smith, a sophomore in the pro ranks acquired by Atlanta from the Chicago Bears, set up the Falcons' touchdown against the Eagles with a pass interception, and scored the only touchdown against St. Louis on an 88-yard punt return.

Coach Norb Hecker, trying to get a passing attack going, plans to start Angie Coia, six-year veteran drafted from Washington, a split end for the first time. Red Mack, former Steeler and Eagle will open at flanker back and Billy Martin, a former Bear, will be at tight end. Former Giant Ernie Wheelwright has been named the starting fullback.

Stillwell Gets Upset Victory In Tourney

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Graham Stillwell, a 20-year-old junior member of the British Davis Cup squad, upset his eighth-seeded countryman, Mark Cox, 6-3, 6-4 Friday in the quarter-finals of the 77th Meadow Club Grass Court Tennis Tournament.

Stillwell will meet the winner of another quarter-final being played today between Alan Stone of Australia and George Seewagen Jr. of Bayside, N.Y.

Stillwell, who eliminated third-seeded Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., winner of last week's Nassau Bowl tournament, to reach the quarter-finals, pounced on a weak service by Cox and earned the victory.

Cox, a left-hander, missed with his first service most of the day. He was broken in the fourth and sixth games of the first set as Stillwell returned the second serve for placements.

Cox broke Stillwell's service in the fifth game of the opening set with passing shots and a backhand error by Stillwell.

But after regaining the service break lead in the sixth game when Cox missed a groundstroke at game point, Stillwell held with loss of one point in each of the seventh and ninth games for the set.

Stillwell won three of his five service games in the second set at love and broke through Cox in the seventh game when Cox made overhead and backhand errors.

Casper Gets Stroke Lead In Thunderbird

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Bill Casper's allergies were dormant but his putter was breathing fire Friday and the National Open champion with the strange eating habits took a one-stroke lead after 36 holes in the $100,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic.

Knocking in six birdie putts from 6 to 20 feet and three-putting only when he tried to swing a buzzing bee, Casper shot a four-under-par 68 over the Upper Montclair Country Club course for a halfway total of 138.

This gave him a one-shot edge over bespectacled Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and Babe Lichardus, a 37-year-old assistant pro from nearby Deal, N.J.

Rudolph blew his chances for the lead with bogeys at the 16th and 17th holes and finished with a 70. Lichardus, even with Casper through 14 holes, hit a ball in the water at the 190-yard 15th, misjudging his club, but still surged in with a 68.

George Knudson, a slender Canadian with a Beatle haircut and ever-present sun glasses, was fourth with a 71 for 140. "It was a quiet round," said the 29-year-old Toronto pro, who missed only two greens and got up and down to save his par on both occasions. He had two birdies, one on a putt of 50 feet, and a three-putt bogey.

The game's two muscle men — Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer — failed to make a comeback surge although Nicklaus refused to count himself out of contention.

Big Jack, three-putting two of the first four greens but nailing an eagle on the 535-yard seventh, finished with an even par 72 for 143.

Palmer, who sprayed five bogeys Thursday while wincing from a sore left shoulder, shot a steady 72, with one birdie and one par, for his second straight 72 and a score of 144.

Asked if he still thought he had a chance, Palmer said, "You can't ever tell."

"I feel much better — my buritis didn't bother me much today," he said. "Still, it was a pretty scratchy round."

Nicklaus said menacingly: "Five shots back? No, I don't count myself out. I was far back in 1962 and I shot a 65 the next day. A couple of good putts and I'll be back in the fight."

It was still a closely bunched field although nothing compared with the nine-man jam that developed after Thursday's first round. The 7,055-yard course was dampened by a heavy overnight rain and players went boldly for the pins.

Gary Player of South Africa shot a 72, sinking birdie putts of 20 and 30 feet and missing 10 others by an inch or so, for a 141 total.

He was tied with three of the lesser known tour players, Charles Coody of Fort Worth, 71-70; Bob Martindale of Dallas, 72-69; and Bob Zimmerman of Dayton, Ohio, 71-70.

Young Tom Weiskopf had a run at the lead but finished badly for a 73, placing him in a tie at 142 with former PGA champion Bobby Nichols, Tommy Aaron, who matched Casper's 68; Billy Farrell, Gardner Dickson, Miller Barber and Vince Sullivan.

The wind was blowing right for Casper, whose sinuses get clogged up when the air is polluted, and he played the kind of golf that has won him four tournaments this year, including the Open, and made him the leading money winner.

Asked if he still thought he had a chance, Palmer said, "You can't ever tell."

Nigeria Backs Away From Prospects Of Split Under Tribal Rivalries

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Under a young military ruler, Nigeria is gingerly backing away from the grim prospect of tearing itself to pieces with traditional tribal rivalries.

He took over power Aug. 1 after the July 28 army mutiny — Nigeria's second this year. He has given the impression that he wants to get out of politics as soon as possible.

Nigerians are turning from the violence that has scarred the country's history to palaver — the traditional African practice of talking — until some solution develops.

Influential men such as Chief Obafemi Awolowo, released from prison 10 days ago by Gowon, are attending secret meetings seeking a way to reconcile the rival northern and eastern elements and find a way back to civilian rule. Awolowo, the former western region premier jailed in 1963 for advocating the overthrow of the government, is the last of the prominent politicians of the 1960 independence days still alive or active. Most of the others, including former Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, perished in the military coup last Jan. 15. The meetings began Tuesday after Gowon announced a three-stage program to return to federal civilian government and "to keep politics out of the army and the army out of politics."

However, not all the signs are promising. Gowon has warned that "citizens are forming organizations and making voluntary subscriptions for purposes not unconnected with recent incidents."

Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwo, the east's military governor, reportedly has not yet pledged support for Gowon's military regime. Such support would be regarded here as a major step toward averting the threat to split Nigeria.

The situation is complicated by the fact that the army garrison there includes about 400 troops of the rival Hausa tribe.

Nigeria Backs Away From Prospects Of Split Under Tribal Rivalries

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Un- rush to split Nigeria is abating. — the traditional African prac- civilian rule. He took over power Aug. 1 tice of talking — until some Awolowo, the former western region premier jailed in 1963 for solution develops. after the July 28 army mutiny. Infuential men such as Chief Obafemi Awolowo, released from prison 10 days ago by Gowon, are attending secret meet- ings seeking a way to reconcile the rival northern and eastern elements and find a way back to perished in the military coup last Jan. 15. The meetings began Tuesday after Gowon announced a three-stage program to return to fed- eral civilian government and "to keep politics out of the army and the army out of politics." However, not all the signs are promising.

Gowon has warned that "cit- izens are forming organizations and making voluntary subscrip- tions for purposes not uncon- nected with recent incidents." Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojuk- wo, the east's military govern- or, reportedly has not yet pledged support for Gowon's military regime. Such support would be regarded here as a major step toward averting the threat to split Nigeria. Ojukwo, a member of the Ibo tribe, which bore the brunt of the casualties in the July fighting, still has not left the regional capital of Unugu.

The situation is complicated by the fact that the army garri- son there includes about 400 troops of the rival Hausa tribe.

MONROE MORNING, Saturday, August 13, 1966 1-B

Deserving Student Aid Approved At Quota Club Meet

Yellow, orange and green flowers arranged in a tall green container centered the officer's table at a Quota Club meeting Thursday at Hotel Frances.

President Miss Letha Johnson conducted the business session with the topic of discussion being held on the various club projects. Unanimously approved were that future Matvec parties would be held quarterly instead of monthly; a request for a loan from a college student to further her education; aid a student to train in student nursing at the Vocational school; and continued support for the Northeast State College student who will be a senior this fall.

An open discussion was held on the "suing District Convention which will be an October event in Monroe. Progress reports were presented by various committee chairmen.

Door prize was won by Mrs. Clara Davis.

Mrs. Helen Agnew, Mrs. Vance Breard, Mrs. Gladys Brownlee, Mrs. Sybil Christman, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Virginia Haneline, Miss Johnson, Mrs. Harriet H. Kern, Mrs. Estelle Kirste, Mrs. Mildred Lomax, Miss Mamie McNeil, Miss Jane Miller, Mrs. Olive Tomlinson, Mrs. Myrtle Boudoin, Mrs. Agnes Morland, Mrs. Dorothe Schmidt and Mrs. Mattie Layne Malone attended the business meet.

NEW MEXICO HOUSEGUESTS of Dr. and Mrs. Doyle Hamilton are Miss Kay Russell of Los Alamos, seated, and Miss Toni Onstott of Carlsbad. Both are students at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces, where Miss Onstott is president of the Zeta Tau Alpha Chapter. Talented vocalists, they have written several songs together which have been copyrighted. Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Jesse McDonald became friends with the visitors when they attended 1966 International Zeta Tau Alpha Convention in Houston. Miss Onstott and Miss Russell had eagerly anticipated this trip to Monroe as they had heard much about Louisiana, its beauty and Southern hospitality.

Miss Janet Brown Entertained At Tallulah Party

Tallulah bride-elect, Miss Janet Brown, whose marriage to Stanley M. Wyatt Jr. of Monroe, is dated for late August, was complimented at a luncheon today. Mrs. J. T. Slay and Miss Patsy Slay of Minden were hostesses for the event in Barrett's cafe in Tallulah.

Miss Brown, wearing a black and white checked voile, was presented a corsage of white viburnum and feathered carnations.

A centerpiece of white stock and pink daisies graced the long luncheon table and the bridal theme prevailed in place cards which featured miniature bride and grooms.

Those sharing the event with the honor guest were Miss Judith Brown, Mrs. Robert E. Brown, Mrs. John Currey of Vicksburg, Mrs. E. L. Wallace, Mrs. C. E. Walker, Mrs. Stanley Wyatt of Monroe, Mrs. Fred Massey, Mrs. W. R. Roper, Mrs. Erle Read, Mrs. John Carpenter and the hostesses.

EXCITEMENT WAS at a peak when Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Schott, daughter, Marcie Ann, and nephew, Tommy Dan Sanders, left for the District Senior World Series in Kilgore, Texas yesterday. The Schott's interest is twofold, one that Monroe is playing in the series, but the predominating reason is that son, Robbie is playing center field for the local team. They joined the Anthony Lasuzzo family in Kilgore who had gone earlier for the games as their son, Skeeter Lasuzzo, is the Monroe team's left fielder.

MRS. THOMAS ZENTNER close friends of Mrs. Daniel Kauffman to her home on Thursday for a "farewell" dessert and coffee. The Kauffman family is leaving next week to establish a new home in Atlanta, Georgia.

MRS. JOHN O. HERMANN, Thomas Harrison Hermann and Vincent A. Daley of Baltimore, Maryland are in Monroe to attend the wedding of Miss Mary Lyda Coon and Robert Biggs today, after having attended the wedding last Saturday of Miss Luci Baines Johnson and Patrick Nugent in Washington, D.C.

MRS. R. T. HENRY of Dubach, recently returned from New York City where she visited her son, James R. Henry. Mrs. Paul Bonin of Monroe accompanied her mother on the trip to the city.

MR. AND MRS. J. PALMISANO, Mrs. Anna Ridley, Miss Mary Howell, David Howell and Joe and Mike Palmisano spent the day Tuesday touring Hodges Gardens near Many.

West Monroe Jaynes Hear Highlights Of Beauty Pageant

West Monroe Jaycee Jaynes were presented the highlights of the Miss Louisiana Beauty Pageant by guest speaker, Miss Sara Lewis at a meeting at Louisiana Power and Light Auditorium, Monday night.

Mrs. John Cordaro presided and introduced Miss Lewis, Miss West Monroe, who was a contestant in the pageant. In her talk she revealed that she will compete for Miss KWKH in Shreveport, and in New Orleans will be a contestant for Miss Louisiana which is a preliminary for the Miss International Pageant.

Jaynes are collecting clothing for the Posey family whose home and its contents were lost recently by fire in West Monroe.

August is designated as "Soap and Suds" month by the organization and they are collecting soap and cleaning supplies to donate to deserving organizations. Donations are requested from anyone who wishes to contribute to the project. The door prize was won by Mrs. Ray Calloway.

Members attending were Mrs. Bob Dutschke, Mrs. Ray Jones, Mrs. Roscoe Holcomb, Mrs. Dan Doughty, Mrs. Ray Calloway, Mrs. J. D. Smith, Mrs. Billy Bayles, Mrs. Gene Schempf, Mrs. Jimmie Wilson, Mrs. John Cordaro, Mrs. Durwood Kuhn. The next meeting will be August 29, at the First National Bank.

WIC Celebrate Seventh Birthday At Special Event

The home of Mrs. Jim Bradford, Loop Road, was scene of the local chapter of Women in Construction's seventh birthday celebration. Mrs. Richard Carter and Mrs. Bill Burroughs assisted with the courtesies.

Miss Elizabeth Shaughnessy proposed a champagne toast to open the festivities. Sterling silver letter openers, engraved with "WIC" were presented charter members, Mrs. James Pickens, Mrs. Margie Moore and Miss Shaughnessy. President, Mrs. E. D. Elmore served the birthday cake.

The dining room table centerpiece featured red carnations uniquely arranged in a steel construction helmet with appointments of miniature tools, depicting the construction industry. Red and white, club colors, were portrayed in silver candelabra filled with red tapers, strawberry punch and the party foods.

Prizes donated by local firms were awarded bingo game winners. Mrs. Bill Everitt was awarded door prize. Focal decoration in the den was an arrangement of red and white carnations.

During the business session preceding the party, three applications for membership were accepted. Mrs. Guylene Williams, Mrs. Barbara Cutler and Mrs. Lynn Fleming were extended invitations.

Mrs. Elmore and incoming president, Mrs. Everitt, were chosen delegates to the National Convention to be held in Miami, Florida, September 15-18. Mrs. Leon Miletello and Mrs. Burroughs will serve as alternates. Miss Shaughnessy was elected chairman for WIC Week which will be held nationwide, September 4-11.

Present were Mrs. Claire Hickey, Mrs. Pickens, Mrs. Margie Moore, Miss Shaughnessy, Miss Willie Higgins, Miss Laverne Causey, Mrs. Miletello, Mrs. Lonnie Lutrick, Mrs. Everitt, Mrs. Elmore, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Burroughs, Mrs. Bradford.

CRISPY

Ever add minced celery to a prepared tomato sauce designed for seafood cocktails? The celery adds crisp texture.

SO EASY

Canned hams are easy to prepare because they come fully cooked, boned, and are vacuum sealed in curing solution.

DELECTABLE

Fresh dill in the garden or at the market? It's delectable in a creamy fish soup or in a lamb stew.

Miss Guilkey, Mr. Ridgway Feted At Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ridgway Sr. entertained for their son, Paul Ridgway Jr. and his fiancée, Miss Cindy Guilkey following the wedding rehearsal last evening at the Paragon Club. Today at four the bridal Church.

An arrangement featuring all white blossoms and greenery accented by flickering votive lights formed the decorative centerpiece for the U-shaped tables where guests were seated. Joining the honor guests and hosts for the final pre-nuptial festivity were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Guilkey, bride-elect's parents, Miss Ruth Ridgway, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dimos, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ridgway, Mrs. C. H. Bloxsum, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Gottfrid, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Guilkey, Mrs. Sally McNair, Dr. Maria Butler, Miss Dianne Everett, the Reverend and Mrs. W. Bradley Trimble, and the Reverend James Brown.

MRS. LEO SCHILLACI

Schillaci-Risher Vows Read In Patterson Catholic Church

The wedding of Miss Kathryn Ann Risher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Risher of Patterson and granddaughter of Mrs. J. N. Risher of Wisner, and Leo Schillaci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schillaci of Napoleonville was solemnized at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Patterson at 5 p.m., August 6. The Reverend Father Pusson officiated assisted by Right Reverend Monsignor R. J. Robell.

Nuptial music was rendered by organist, Mrs. Cosimo Cremonese with Miss Michael as vocalist. The main altar was decorated with white gladioli and greenery in gold vases. White satin bows adorned the family pews. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length sheath wedding gown of imported antique linen accented by Swiss lace re-embroidered with seed pearls at the neckline and elbow length sleeves. The lace and pearl motifs were repeated on the detachable chapel train dropping from the empire waist line. The bride wore a pill box hat of lace seeded with pearls and a shoulder length veil of illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Kathleen Vocke of New Orleans was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Lacour of Olla, Miss Wanda Langley of Monroe, Miss Madeline Rosso of Morgan City and Miss Judy David of Patterson. All wore floor length dresses of aqua dotted swiss. Their head pieces were of aqua nylon net. Each carried a single large white gladioli.

Frank Hebert served as best man and groomsmen were Sam Borberos, Charles Eberhardt, Pete Aldorne and Ramond Bourgeois.

Ushers were Bill Rachell, William Vincent and Ricky Schillaci.

RECEPTION
Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with a cut work linen cloth centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional bride and groom. The cake was flanked by a crystal punch bowl and candelabra of slim white tapers and miniature white chrysanthemums and greenery.

Presiding at the cake table was Mrs. C. H. Foster Jr., of Wisner, aunt of the bride. Miss Geannine Gervane presided at the guest book. The bride's mother received in blue silk linen with a lace jacket and bone accessories and wore a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose a pink linen with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. For her wedding trip to the Florida gulf coast the bride changed to a two piece tuckered green cotton suit with white accessories and white gladioli corsage.

The couple will make their home in Morgan City where Mr. Schillaci is a pharmacist at Lakeview Hospital.

Mr. Schillaci is a graduate of Northeast State College at Monroe and his wife attended the same school for two years.

Bridal Motif Used
Brenda Gresham
At Party Feting

A centerpiece featuring a miniature bride and groom was used to enhance the decor of the refreshment table at a bridal shower hosted by Mrs. Virgil Watson and Mrs. John Curtis. The pre-nuptial party was a compliment to bride-elect Miss Brenda Gresham, whose fiancé is Shelby L. Watson. Their wedding is to be an event of August 27.

A white linen cloth draped the party table which held a cut-glass punch bowl, pink tapers and the bride and groom decorations. Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Anita Decelle and Mrs. Elsie Dupont.

A memory candle and the guest book graced a table in the foyer.

The honoree was wearing a white tulle-trimmed dress and accessories. A pink carnation gift corsage complimented her party attire.

Guests were Mrs. A. L. Gresham, Mrs. Paul McKenzie, Mrs. Louie Soulier, Mrs. L. L. Decelle Sr., Mrs. Ruby Johnson, Miss Barbara Warner, Miss Donna Leigh, Mrs. E. C. Cobb, Mrs. Bill Edgar Jr., Mrs. Robert Sturdivant, Miss Sandra Ballard and the honoree.

Dear Abby
Discipline Son, Tell Him 'Facts' Before Too Late

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Our 17-year-old son is going steady with a girl who has just turned 14, and he practically LIVES at her house. What do you think of parents who will allow a boy to hang around their house all day and half the night seeing their 14-year-old daughter? He says they never tell him to go home so he just stays.

I say they should kick him out at midnight. With summer here it can be a real problem. Eighteen months ago we got a 15-year-old daughter-in-law, and six months ago we got a grandchild. We certainly don't want any more of that. Please help us.

CONCERNED PARENTS
DEAR CONCERNED: Don't depend on the girl's parents to discipline your son. That's YOUR job. Since the girl obviously has no rules, you should make some for your son. His father should have a serious man-to-man talk with him. (Maybe his brother can give him the benefit of his experience.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was recently married and some relatives (on the groom's side) sent her a beautiful sterling silver tray with the following card:

"If your marriage lasts a year, please return this tray and we'll have it monogrammed. Love, Aunt Helen and Uncle Dave."

Hints From Heloise
Frustrated Bride Needs Aid For Shrinking Crust

By Heloise Cruse
Dear Heloise:
When I bake a pie shell it always shrinks in the pan, and the edges get burned before the bottom of the crust is done.

Please tell us how you bake your pie crusts. All my cookbooks just say, "bake," but never allow for the problems I have experienced.

Newlywed
Dear Newlywed:
The first thing you might do is have your oven thermostat checked to insure that the oven heats to the exact temperature you select on the knob. Gas companies charge nothing for this.

Here is how I keep my shells from shrinking and from getting too brown on the edges, and I hope this helps you.

I cut the entire bottom out of a throw-away pie pan with a pair of scissors!

When I put my homemade pie shell in the pie pan, I place this rim (which I made) on top of the pie shell before baking it.

This foil rim will hold the edge of your pie crust in place while it is cooking. It also prevents shrinking and overbrowning, and can be used again and again.

After washing it, I keep this rim in the pie tin ready for the next pie crust.

When you use a foil rim like I described, you may think that the edge of your pie crust is not brown enough... but remember, after you fill it with pie filling and put on the meringue, you will have to bake it some more.

Heloise
Dear Heloise:
The shoulder pads from dresses make nice pin cushions. Sew two pads together at the top. Then sew a loop or ribbon to the pads and hang it on the wall in a convenient closet.

FOR LOVELY LOCKS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Give hair special care when sand, sun, water and wind can turn special glory into a nest of straw.

One suggestion: an ounce of prevention. Give the hair baby oil treatments at two week intervals. Warm the baby oil, apply it to hair which has been divided into sections, and massage thoroughly. Wrap hair in hot towels for 15 minutes, then shampoo.

BUBBLY
Low-calorie cranberry bubble drink is nutritious as well as refreshing. Combine 1 cup of chilled low-calorie cranberry juice cocktail with 1/2 cup of chilled skimmed milk, 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla extract, 1 egg white and crushed ice. Beat with rotary egg beater until well-blended and foamy. Garnish with ground mace. Makes 2 small servings of about 40 calories each.

MRS. LEO SCHILLACI

Schillaci-Risher Vows Read In Patterson Catholic Church

The wedding of Miss Kathleen Ann Risher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Risher of Patterson, and granddaughter of Mrs. J. N. Risher of Wisner, and Leo Schillaci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schillaci of Napoleonville, was solemnized at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Patterson at 5 p.m., August 6.

The Reverend Father Pusson officiated assisted by Right Reverend Monsignor R. J. Robell. Nuptial music was rendered by organist, Mrs. Cosimo Cremonese with Miss Michael as vocalist.

The main altar was decorated with white gladioli and greenery in gold vases. White satin bows adorned the family pews. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length sheath wedding gown of imported antique linen accented by Swiss lace re-embroidered with seed pearls at the neckline and elbow length sleeves. The lace and pearl motifs were repeated on the detachable chapel train dropping from the empire waist line. The bride wore a pill box hat of lace seeded with pearls and a shoulder length veil of illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Kathleen Vocke of New Orleans was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Lacour of Olla, Miss Wanda Langley of Monroe, Miss Madeline Rosso of Morgan City and Miss Judy David of Patterson. All wore floor length dresses of aqua dotted swiss. Their head pieces were of aqua nylon net. Each carried a single large white gladiolus.

Frank Hebert served as best man and groomsmen were Sam Borberos, Charles Eberhardt, Pete Aldome and Ramond Bourgeois.

Ushers were Bill Rachell, William Vincent and Ricky Schillaci.

Hodge, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Sam O. Henry III, Miss Natalie McDuff, Mr. Jim Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Culpepper, Mr. and Mrs. Henson S. Coon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ned Duval, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. White, Mrs. John Hermann and Mr. Thomas Hermann, of Baltimore, Miss Faye Parker and Mr. Johnny James, Mr. and Mrs. John Moses and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Daniel.

LUNCHEON

Mrs. Floyd Mathewes and Mrs. Milton Adams entertained for Miss Coon with a noon luncheon on Friday at the Mathewes home on South Grand. The hostesses and Miss Coon greeted the guests. Miss Coon chose from her trousseau a chiffon shirt-waist dress in shades of blue with matching accessories, with which she wore a white gladioli corsage presented to her by the hostesses.

Flower arrangements of miniature white chrysanthemums and greenery were noted throughout the area. On the dining table, covered with white lace, was placed a milk glass bowl filled with white chrysanthemums and fern. Quartet table linens covered with white linens held miniature arrangements of small milk glass compotes. Place cards denoting the bride and groom marked the place of each guest. The hostesses presented the bride with a gift of silver.

New Principal

OAK GROVE (Special) — Wayne Edwards, former Kilbourne High School basketball coach, has been named the school principal at West Carroll Parish High School.

Positions of several school officials were incorrectly reported last week, the school board said.

A. C. Fryday, former principal at West Carroll Parish High School, is now supervisor of elementary school instruction in the parish. Fryday succeeded L. H. Willis in the supervisor's role. Forest High School principal T. Lavell Hammett was named supervisor of high school education to replace H. M. Thomas, who has retired. No new principal for Forest has been named.

University Construction Is Outlined

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — About $80 million worth of construction is now being planned by Louisiana State University, the school's executive vice president said here Friday.

Dr. M. D. Woodin, principal speaker during the opening session of the annual meeting of the Louisiana County Agricultural Agents Association, said that some of the work has already begun.

Among new projects, he said, are a $5 million to $6 million assembly hall on the Baton Rouge campus; a New Orleans dental school; and a Shreveport medical school. The medical facility, he said, will probably cost between $25 and $30 million.

"And this is just scratching the surface," Woodin told the group of 125 county agents.

President Flies To Texas Ranch For Weekend

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson flew to Randolph Air Force Base Friday for a long weekend on his ranch after a series of staff meetings and a conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Washington.

The President, wearing a brown sports jacket and carrying Courtenay Valenti, the 4-year-old daughter of former aide Jack Valenti, stepped off the Presidential jet Air Force 1 at 7:55 p.m. EDT.

Russia Reports First Casualty

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia Friday reported the first known Soviet casualty of the Vietnamese war. It said a Russian miner was wounded in a U.S. bombing eight months ago.

The magazine New Times said the injured man was one of 34 Soviet citizens working in a North Vietnamese coal mine attacked last Nov. 8 and Dec. 26, and April 18 of this year. It said the homes of the Soviet miners were destroyed in the raids and their families evacuated.

Foreign Aid Comments By Solon Given

WASHINGTON (Special) — Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., Friday called his review of present foreign aid appropriations, including unliquidated funds from prior years, "fantastic, frightening, but factual."

Passman is chairman of the Foreign Affairs Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, and said that if Congress approves all the funds requested this year, the total amount available for expenditure will be "26 billion, 91 million, 822 thousand dollars." He said, "Congress is the first branch of the government. It should stop yielding its prerogatives to inexperienced, bureaucratic spenders who have limited knowledge as to what the dissipation of our nation's wealth is doing to our economy, our monetary system, and our freeworld markets."

Passman pointed out that requests for new foreign aid funds amount to $9,166,668,000. Not including the military assistance program for South Viet Nam, which is part of the defense budget, nor the $930 million in supplemental requests approved by Congress earlier in the year.

The congressman offered his fact sheet as a "partial answer to why we are now having inflation deficit financing, continuing increases in the public ments deficit, and a continuing loss in our gold reserve."

Passman presented his listing of 15 separate budget item requests for foreign aid this year, and said, "only the first item is ever mentioned publicly, continuing balance of pay-as the other 14 items are just as much part of the foreign assistance program as your head is part of your body."

First on the list was the $3,385,962,000 foreign assistance requests, but Passman cited the long-term credits of the export-import bank as being appropriated $2,500,000,000, and funds for agricultural commodities totaling $1,617,000,000.

"Believe it or not," he said, "the executive branch never includes these items as foreign aid totals."

I believe it is a patriotic service to expose wasteful spending, fragmentation, and a trend toward turning our funds over to international organizations to spend surrendering our control over them and our right of detailed examination."

Passman listed appropriations for such items as the Peace Corps, Inter-American Development Bank, International Development Association, regular operations of the Export-Import Bank, and contributions to international organizations as being part of foreign aid, each receiving at least $100 million in appropriations. Of 17 items listed as foreign aid funds from prior years not yet liquidated, funds for regular export-import bank operations claim a giant share of $4.3 billion, while $6.7 billion remain from unused foreign assistance requests.

Passman also called claims of a "bare-bonded" budget in relation to foreign aid "bare-boned baloney," and cited figures that showed that over a ten-year period of cutting budget estimates, Congress had saved only $8,874,962,000. Using the period 1956-65 as a base, Passman said that budget requests have totaled $41.9 billion, and that $33.5 billion of this has been appropriated. "There is very little hope that this performance can be repeated in the foreseeable future because of changes in the composition of the congressional committees and the Congress, and because of unprecedented" from downtown," he said.

He asked that members of Congress observe such Washington building inscriptions as "study the past" in relation to foreign aid and act accordingly.

Passman also called claims of a "bare-bonded" budget in relation to foreign aid "bare-boned baloney," and cited figures that showed that over a ten-year period of cutting budget estimates, Congress had saved only $8,874,962,000. Using the period 1956-65 as a base, Passman said that budget requests have totaled $41.9 billion, and that $33.5 billion of this has been appropriated. "There is very little hope that this performance can be repeated in the foreseeable future because of changes in the composition of the congressional committees and the Congress, and because of unprecedented" from downtown," he said.

He asked that members of Congress observe such Washington building inscriptions as "study the past" in relation to foreign aid and act accordingly.

TRUE FACTS ABOUT ASSESSOR'S RACE

Many Rumors Have Been Brought To My Attention by Friends And I Feel The Time Has Come To Separate Facts From Rumors.

Signed: Mrs. Bert Coverdale

A. RUMOR:

That Mr. Odis Russell was Chief Deputy Assessor for several years as announced on KNOE Radio in a paid political advertisement by Odis Russell.

FACT:

Until his death in May, 1965, Mr. Walter Rhodes had been Chief Deputy Assessor for many years. Mr. Russell had been Chief Deputy less than 8 months prior to Bert's death.

B. RUMOR:

That the office of Tax Assessor could not have operated without Mr. Russell.

FACT:

No one person is indispensable in any office or business. This is evidenced by the fact that the Assessor's office continued to run smoothly even after Bert's death. Had there been an indispensable person it would have been Bert. Mr. Russell's lengthy hospitalization did not prevent operations from continuing.

C. RUMOR:

That I was afraid to discharge Mr. Russell because I couldn't do without his services in the office.

FACT:

I retained Mr. Russell and all other employees because they had been trained for their particular jobs. Naturally this does not mean that any of them are necessarily qualified or possess the maturity, integrity and broad experience necessary to make a good Tax Assessor.

D. RUMOR:

That I decided to run for the office of Assessor in order to prevent any other qualified person from announcing.

FACT:

I decided to run at the insistence of many friends of Bert and myself who felt that my being elected was the only way to assure a continuation of Bert's Fair Tax Policies.

E. RUMOR:

That I promised Mr. Russell that if he asked the governor to appoint me I would then support him when an election was called.

FACT:

Mr. Russell stated in an article appearing in the Monroe News-Star on January 24, 1966, as follows "The full text of Russell's statement read: 'I would like to take this means of recommending that the memory of our beloved Assessor Bert Coverdale be honored by the appointment of his wife, Mrs. Mary Bert Coverdale. If Mrs. Coverdale is granted this appointment, I humbly offer to carry out the work involved for Mrs. Coverdale in whatever capacity she desires. I feel that the memory of Mr. Coverdale could be served in this manner, and is a just tribute to a noble man who was a friend to everyone. If Mrs. Coverdale does not choose to run when the election is called, I would like to offer myself as a candidate.'"

However on January 27th, Mr. Russell phoned the office of the State Attorney General to ask when an election should be held to fill the balance of Bert's term. The following is an excerpt from a letter on page 25 of volume of "Reports and Opinions of the Attorney General covering the period March 1, 1964 to March 1, 1966."

"Mr. Otis Russell
Chief Deputy Assessor
1908 Filhoil Avenue
Monroe, Louisiana

In your telephone conversation today you stated that after the death on January 20, 1966, of Mr. Bert Coverdale, the Assessor of Ouachita Parish, the governor appointed his widow to fill the vacancy. You wish to know when an election should be held for the election of the successor to Mrs. Coverdale."

This obvious insincerity on the part of Mr. Russell was one more reason I felt he was not the proper person to become your Assessor. I learned about this letter only shortly before I filed for the office.

F. RUMOR:

No matter whether Mrs. Coverdale or Mr. Russell was elected the other would be retained as Chief Deputy Assessor.

FACT:

I do not desire to be a Deputy Assessor. I had planned on retaining Mr. Russell as a Deputy until recently. In view of the facts presented above this would create an impossible situation as above all I give and demand loyalty. In my case my loyalty is to you the people of Ouachita Parish.

I STATE THE FOLLOWING AS FACTS

A.

I am an independent candidate and when elected will be obligated to no one but the voters of Ouachita Parish. I have made no deals of any kind with anyone.

B.

I wish to be elected to the office of Assessor of Ouachita Parish so that this office will continue to be operated in the same fair and impartial manner as Bert operated it for the past 25 years.

C.

I promise fair treatment and courteous consideration to all the people whatever their problems may be. I will always be available to discuss these problems.

D.

I am opposed to the statewide appraisal and reassessment program as was recommended by the Tax Committee because it would work to the disadvantage of all Ouachita Parish home owners regardless of the size of their home.

E.

When elected I promise you, the voters, an efficient and well run Assessor's office that will guarantee you the same fair treatment you received while Bert was Assessor and that I have continued since the Governor appointed me to the office last January.

F.

I will continue as I have in the past to supervise all actions of employees of the office of Assessor. I will correct any errors or inequities when they are discovered and will determine the policies to be followed according to the law and the best interests of the people of Ouachita Parish.

G.

I feel that the office of Assessor should be completely independent of any ties or obligations to any other political office, machine, or faction and when I am elected it will be just that.

Pallbearers will be employees at Angola.

New Principal

OAK GROVE (Special) — Wayne Edwards, former Kilbourne High School basketball coach, has been named the school principal at West Carroll Parish High School.

Positions of several school officials were incorrectly reported last week, the school board said.

A. C. Fryday, former principal at West Carroll Parish High School, is now supervisor of elementary school instruction in the parish. Fryday succeeded L. I. Willis in the supervisor's role. Forest High School principal T. Lavell Hammett was named supervisor of high school education to replace H. M. Thomas, who has retired. No new principal for Forest has been named.

University Construction Is Outlined

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — About $80 million worth of construction is now being planned by Louisiana State University, the school's executive vice president said here Friday.

Dr. M. D. Woodin, principal speaker during the opening session of the annual meeting of the Louisiana County Agricultural Agents Association, said that some of the work has already begun.

Among new projects, he said, are a $5 million to $6 million assembly hall on the Baton Rouge campus; a New Orleans dental school; and a Shreveport medical school. The medical facility, he said, will probably cost between $25 and $30 million.

"And this is just scratching the surface," Woodin told the group of 125 county agents.

Fines Levied On Driving Counts Here

John E. O'Bryan, Shreveport, and Sherman L. Smith, Montgomery, Ala., drew fines of $425 each Friday in Monroe Municipal Court, on counts of driving while intoxicated. Acting Judge Charles H. Baker presided.

Fined for theft were Milton Young, 14th and Washington Streets, $150; Verdia Adams, 1802 Breard, $100; and John Gill, 1008 Louise Anne, $100. Cases of theft nolle prossed were against Robert L. Anderson, 3207 Jackson, T. B. Young, 1400 block of Adams St., Lizzie Marzett, 510 Jack McEnery.

Fines levied for simple battery were against Oscar L. Guice, 815 Ford, $50; Elnora Murray, Crane's Hotel, $30; Edward Sherman, Louberta Street, $30. Battery cases against Willie Williams Jr., 4313 Pippin, Willie Quinn, 3216 Louberta, John R. Lawson, 2936 Louberta, and John L. Benton, 1109 Pine, were nolle prossed.

A count of damage to property against Norman L. Rogers, Renwick St., was nolle prossed. Roosevelt Franklin, 209 N. 14th St., and Harvey Fletcher, Goldmine, were fined $100 each on counts of carrying a concealed weapon.

George M. Ashley, 808 Ozone St., was fined $30 for resisting arrest and Charlie Fluella, 1714 Canary, was fined $5 for a speeding count.

Paying penalties for speeding to the Traffic Violations Bureau were Mary Flacy, 1510 N. 7th St., Eddie L. Mansfield, 409 Congo, and Bernice Caseio, Parker Road.

Negligent driving — Edward L. Lewis, 1708 Bernstein Dr., Teddy L. Johnson, 1517 Nat St., West Monroe, James Hendrixson, Columbia, and Harold L. Little Jr., 808 Walnut St.

President Flies To Texas Ranch For Weekend

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson flew to Randolph Air Force Base Friday for a long weekend on his ranch after a series of staff meetings and a conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Washington.

The President, wearing a brown sports jacket and carrying Courtenay Valenti, 4-year-old daughter of former aide Jack Valenti, stepped off the Presidential Jet Air Force 1 at 7:55 p.m. EDT.

Russia Reports First Casualty

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia Friday reported the first known Soviet casualty of the Vietnamese war. It said a Russian miner was wounded in a U.S. bombing eight months ago.

The magazine New Times said the injured man was one of 34 Soviet citizens working in a North Vietnamese coal mine attacked last Nov. 8 and Dec. 26, and April 18 of this year.

It said the homes of the Soviet miners were destroyed in the raids and their families evacuated.

Foreign Aid Comments By Solon Given

WASHINGTON (Special) — Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., Friday called his review of present foreign aid appropriations, including unliquidated funds from prior years, "fantastic, frightening, but factual."

Passman is chairman of the Foreign Affairs Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, and said that if Congress approves all the funds requested this year, the total amount available for expenditure will be "26 billion, 91 million, 822 thousand dollars." He said, "Congress is the first branch of the government. It should stop yielding its prerogatives to inexperienced, bureaucratic spenders who have limited knowledge as to what the dissipation of our nation's wealth is doing to our economy, our monetary system, and our free-world markets."

Passman pointed out that requests for new foreign aid funds amount to $9,166,666,000. Not including the military assistance program for South Viet Nam, which is part of the defense budget, nor the $830 million in supplemental requests approved by Congress earlier in the year.

The congressman offered his fact sheet as a "partial answer to why we are now having inflation deficit financing, continuing increases in the public mints deficit, and a continuing loss in our gold reserve."

Passman presented his listing of 15 separate budget item requests for foreign aid this year, and said, "only the first item is ever mentioned publicly debt, continuing balance of payments being foreign aid; however the other 14 items are just as much part of the foreign assistance program as your head is part of your body."

First on the list was the $3,385,982,000 foreign assistance requests, but Passman cited the long-term credits of the export-import bank as being appropriated $2,500,000,000, and funds for agricultural commodities totalling $1,617,000,000.

"Believe it or not," he said, "the executive branch never includes these items as foreign aid totals. I believe it is a patriotic service to expose wasteful spending, fragmentation, and a trend toward turning our funds over to international organizations to spend surrendering our control over them and our right of detailed examination."

Passman listed appropriations for such items as the Peace Corps, Inter-American Development Bank, International Development Association, regular operations of the Export-Import Bank, and contributions to international organizations as being part of foreign aid, each receiving at least $100 million in appropriations. Of 17 items listed as foreign aid funds from prior years not yet liquidated, funds for regular export-import bank operations claim a giant share of $4.3 billion, while $6.7 billion remain from unused foreign assistance requests.

Passman also called claims of a "bare-boned" budget in relation to foreign aid "bare-boned baloney" and cited figures that showed that over a ten-year period of cutting budget estimates, Congress had saved only $8,874,962,000. Using the period 1956-65 as a base, Passman said that budget requests have totaled $41.9 billion and that $33.5 billion of this has been appropriated. "There is very little hope that this performance can be repeated in the foreseeable future because of changes in the composition of the congressional committees and the Congress, and because of unprecedented" from downtown," he said.

He asked that members of Congress observe such Washington building inscriptions as "study the past" in relation to foreign aid and act accordingly.

Anglo Mixed Jury Bill Leaves U.S. Divided

By United Press International
American jurists appeared divided Friday on the wisdom of the British government's proposed bill to make unanimous jury verdicts unnecessary in criminal cases.

The bill, which will be introduced in Parliament this fall, would provide for majority decisions of 10 - 2 to convict in criminal cases, and would disqualify jurors with criminal records. Government authorities said the change is aimed at eliminating corruption of juries by powerful British criminals.

"I am absolutely opposed to this so-called 'reform,'" said senior Federal Circuit Court Judge Harold R. Medina of New York, who presided at the 10-month trial of top Communist leaders in 1949.

"It would be a perversion of the jury system—a serious mistake," said Medina. "The two persons excluded from the verdict might be the very two who represent the views of minorities who have as much a right to their opinion as anyone else."

But U.S. District Court Judge Joseph Sam Perry of Chicago saw the change as "a wholesome move." He said unanimous verdicts are not required in Puerto Rico and some states and "the time is coming when we have to have a majority verdict rule or at least a lack of unanimous verdict."

"We're going to have a great deal of trouble in this country (trying to get unanimous verdicts) especially in racial matters," Perry observed. "In the South it is very hard to get a unanimous verdict in a case where a white is accused of a crime against a Negro. The move is 100 years late in Britain just as it is in this country."

Perry said non-unanimous verdicts in criminal or civil cases is much more prevalent in states West of the Mississippi River. In all states where non-unanimous verdicts are provided for criminal cases, the authorization must derive from the constitution of the state.

"The constitutional preservation of the requirement of prosecution for felons only after indictment by a grand jury is sufficient protection for individual rights," Perry said. "Unanimous verdicts are now a protection for criminals rather than for the innocent."

W. H. Duckworth, chief justice of the Georgia Supreme Court, opposed the idea. He said a unanimous verdict "is one of the strongest assurances we have that a miscarriage of justice will not occur."

"While I take pride in my British ancestors and in such British things as common law, I think this is an unwise policy in determining the truth in such

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please" at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you each Saturday in this column.

Will you tell me if the City of Monroe has placed a $1.50 charge on each house trailer within the city limits for garbage pickup? If so, how does the city know how many trailers are in a park each month, for they are coming and going all the time?

The charge per trailer is the same as single residential charges — not $1.50 a trailer, but $2 a trailer. City officials report that in the case of trailer parks, the individual park is billed at $2 per trailer, based on the estimated average number of trailers in the park each month.

About two years ago, the people living on Georgia Street were notified that the house numbers were wrong and the Engineering Department of the city was changing them. The city did so, beginning south of Winnsboro Road, to Thomas Street. The same thing exists on Alabama Street and on Mississippi Street. When will the numbers be changed or corrected on those streets?

Officials state that the Engineering Department has charge of the numbering system in effect in the city, but concedes that a "lot of discrepancies" still remain. However, efforts are made to correct them as the department becomes aware of them, with a little major change in an area as possible. The questioner is advised to notify the Monroe engineer's office of the situations he describes on Alabama and Mississippi Streets.

Why did the City of Monroe build only one sewage disposal plant when some say two were needed?

Monroe spokesmen disagree with the questioner as to the present need for two plants close in to town. However, for large parts of the eastern section of the city and for the Northeast Louisiana State College area an oxidation pond disposal system is under construction. On the latter part of the question, the officials said that the plant was located near a trunk line on Standifer where the sewage is channeled into a single line to the Ouachita River. They maintain that the possibility of a lone plant serving a single collection point resulted in great economy and praise early planners for their foresight.

Can you tell me where I can get material on public relations in a small community?

We suggest that you check with your parish library. Usually there are a number of good books on this subject available.

In the City of Monroe, is there a law of any kind that you must build your house or home a certain number of feet away from property lines? If there is a law, how long has it been in effect?

The question does not supply sufficient detail to give a precise answer. However, the wording seems to suggest a single-family dwelling is in mind. If this is true, the zoning ordinance stipulates that in an R-1, one-family residential, district, at least 25 feet must separate the front property line from the front part of the home, at least 25 feet must separate the back property line from the back part of the home, and side-yard space on each side must be at least five feet. Of course, other restrictions are spelled out for other types of dwellings. In R-2, single and two-family residential, districts for example, the footage requirements, respectively, are 20, 20 and five. If this information does not include the answer to the question, a more complete answer can be obtained from James Harbuck, Monroe zoning administrator. The restrictions took effect as part of the Monroe zoning law when the law took effect, Jan. 11, 1961.

In setting a table, I have always placed the napkin to the left of the plate. Recently I was told that it should be placed to the right. Tell me, please, which is correct.

Properly, the napkin is placed either to the left of the fork (which is left of the plate) or is placed in the center of the dinner plate, but never to the right of the plate. Specifically: In an informal setting, either place the napkin to the left or on the plate; in a formal luncheon setting, place the napkin to the left; and in a formal dinner setting, place the napkin on the service plate.

Additional information has been obtained on the question about the number of sons in the armed forces. June C. Platt Sr., postmaster at Swartz writes: "This is in reply to the article in your July 2 column with reference to four sons being in the armed forces being a record. That isn't a record, even in this area. There were five of us in the services during World War II. At one time all five were serving in a foreign theater. We have around 23 years of wartime service, and about 40 years of military service. The youngest of us has 22 years in the Navy and is presently on the Aircraft Carrier Coral Sea off Viet Nam."

Who made the photograph of James Meredith falling which appeared on the front page of your newspaper when he was shot in Mississippi?

The photo we used was sent out by the Associated Press. If you desire additional information, we suggest you write the Associated Press, Times Picayune Building, New Orleans.

I have read somewhere, but have forgotten when, that the pyramids were begun in Egypt. Can you give me the date?

According to World Almanac, they were started in 3000 BC at Sakkarah, and Cheops. Great pyramid was built at Giza. Second largest was at Chephren, and the great Sphinx was built about 2000 BC.

When was Julius Caesar assassinated?

Julius Caesar, who formed the first Roman triumvirate with Pompey and Crassus, was cut down in the Roman Senate by a group led by two close friends, Cassius and Brutus in 44 BC. Caesar had trusted both with many responsibilities.

What was the Council of Nicaea?

The council was called by Emperor Constantine in Bithynia, Asia Minor, in 325 AD in an effort to get church men to define orthodox Christian belief.

How large is the earth?

According to scientists, the earth is the fifth largest planet and the third from the sun. It's area is placed at 196,951,072 square miles.

What is the meaning of "one inch of rain"?

The World Almanac gives this explanation:

An acre of ground contains 43,560 square feet. Consequently, a rainfall of 1 inch over 1 acre of ground would mean a total of 6,272-640 cubic inches of water. This is equivalent of 3,630 cubic feet. As a cubic foot of pure water weighs about 62.4 pounds, the exact amount varying with the density, it follows that the weight of a uniform coating of 1 inch of rain over 1 acre of surface would be 226,512 pounds, or 113 1/4 short tons. The weight of 1 U. S. gallon of pure water is 8.345 pounds. Consequently a rainfall of 1 inch over 1 acre of ground would mean 27,143 gallons of water.

Louisiana To Get More School Aid

BATON ROUGE (AP) —The federal government has allotted Louisiana an additional $34,000 under the Elementary and Education Act, State Education Supt. William Dodd said Friday.

Acadia Parish will receive funds for a comprehensive center for pupil personnel and special services and for research and curriculum development.

Evangeline Parish will receive money for a multi-purpose service center and Orleans Parish, for an education laboratory theater.

Anglo Mixed Jury Bill Leaves U.S. Divided

By United Press International
American jurists appeared divided Friday on the wisdom of the British government's proposed bill to make unanimous jury verdicts unnecessary in criminal cases.

The bill, which will be introduced in Parliament this fall, would provide for majority decisions of 10-2 to convict in criminal cases, and would disqualify jurors with criminal records. Government authorities said the change is aimed at eliminating corruption of juries by powerful British criminals.

"I am absolutely opposed to this so-called reform," said senior Federal Circuit Court Judge Harold R. Medina of New York, who presided at the 10-month trial of top Communist leaders in 1949.

"It would be a perversion of the jury system—a serious mistake," said Medina. "The two persons excluded from the verdict might be the very two who represent the views of minorities who have as much a right to their opinion as anyone else."

But U.S. District Court Judge Joseph Sam Perry of Chicago saw the change as "a wholesome move." He said unanimous verdicts are not required in Puerto Rico and some states and "the time is coming when we have to have a majority verdict rule or at least a lack of unanimous verdict."

"We're going to have a great deal of trouble in this country (trying to get unanimous verdicts) especially in racial matters," Perry observed. "In the South it is very hard to get a unanimous verdict in a case where a white is accused of a crime against a Negro. The median is 100 years late in Britain just as it is in this country."

Perry said non-unanimous verdicts in criminal or civil cases is much more prevalent in states West of the Mississippi River. In all states where non-unanimous verdicts are provided for criminal cases, the authorization must derive from the constitution of the state.

"The constitutional preservation of the requirement of prosecution for felons only after indictment by a grand jury is sufficient protection for individual rights," Perry said. "Unanimous verdicts are now a protection for criminals rather than for the innocent."

W. H. Duckworth, chief justice of the Georgia Supreme Court, opposed the idea. He said a unanimous verdict "is one of the strongest assurances we have that a miscarriage of justice will not occur."

"While I take pride in my British ancestors and in such Felician, Jackson, Lafourche, British things as common law, Madison, Morehouse, Natchez, I think this is an unwise policy toches. St. Landry and St. Mary in determining the truth in such parishes."

State To Take Highway Bids From Aug. 17-18

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Bids will be received Aug. 17 on 31 highway projects totaling 245 miles, the State Highway Department said Friday.

Projects include construction of a precast concrete slab bridge on State Route 14 in Calcasieu Parish, a vertical lift span bridge at Belle Chasse in Plaquemines Parish and a Tappanville river bridge and approaches.

Four miles of the Lucas-Shreveport Highway in Calcasieu Parish will be paved and seven miles of concrete overlay will be constructed on the old Hammond Highway in East Baton Rouge Parish.

Other projects, mainly surfacing, are scheduled in Terrebonne, West Feliciana, Ascension, Assumption, DeSoto, East Baton Rouge, Iberville, Lafourche, British things as common law, Madison, Morehouse, Natchez, I think this is an unwise policy toches. St. Landry and St. Mary in determining the truth in such parishes."

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please" at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you each Saturday in this column.

Will you tell me if the City of Monroe has placed a $1.50 charge on each house trailer within the city limits for garbage pickup? If so, how does the city know how many trailers are in a park each month, for they are coming and going all the time?

The charge per trailer is the same as single residential charges — not $1.50 a trailer, but $2 a trailer. City officials report that in the case of trailer parks, the individual park is billed at $2 per trailer, based on the estimated average number of trailers in the park each month.

About two years ago, the people living on Georgia Street were notified that the house numbers were wrong and the Engineering Department of the city was changing them. The city did so, beginning south of Winnshore Road to Thomas Street. The same thing exists on Alabama Street and on Mississippi Street. When will the numbers be changed or corrected on those streets?

Officials state that the Engineering Department has charge of the numbering system in effect in the city, but concedes that a "lot of discrepancies" still remain. However, efforts are made to correct them as the department becomes aware of them, with as little major change in an area as possible. The questioner is advised to notify the Monroe engineer's office of the situations he describes on Alabama and Mississippi Streets.

Why did the City of Monroe build only one sewage disposal plant when some say two were needed?

Monroe spokesmen disagree with the questioner as to the present need for two plants close in to town. However, for large parts of the eastern section of the city and for the Northeast Louisiana State College area an oxidation pond disposal system is under construction. On the latter part of the question, the officials said that the plant was located near a trunk line on Standifer where the sewage is channeled into a single line to the Ouachita River. They maintain that the possibility of a lone plant serving a single collection point resulted in great economy and praise early planners for their foresight.

Can you tell me where I can get material on public relations in a small community?

We suggest that you check with your parish library. Usually there are a number of good books on this subject available.

In the City of Monroe, is there a law of any kind that you must build your house or home a certain number of feet away from property lines? If there is a law, how long has it been in effect?

The question does not supply sufficient detail to give a precise answer. However, the wording seems to suggest a single-family dwelling is in mind. If this is true, the zoning ordinance stipulates that in an R-1, one-family residential district, at least 25 feet must separate the front property line from the front part of the home, at least 25 feet must separate the back property line from the back part of the home, and side yard space on each side must be at least five feet. Of course, other restrictions are spelled out for other types of dwellings. In R-2, single and two-family residential districts for example, the footage requirements, respectively, are 20, 20 and five. If this information does not include the answer to the question, a more complete answer can be obtained from James Harbuck, Monroe zoning administrator. The restrictions took effect as part of the Monroe zoning law when the law took effect, Jan. 11, 1961.

In setting a table, I have always placed the napkin to the left of the plate. Recently I was told that it should be placed to the right. Tell me, please, which is correct.

Properly, the napkin is placed either to the left of the fork (which is left of the plate) or is placed in the center of the dinner plate, but never to the right of the plate. Specifically, in an informal setting, either place the napkin to the left or on the plate; in a formal luncheon setting, place the napkin to the left; and in a formal dinner setting, place the napkin on the service plate.

Additional information has been obtained on the question about the number of sons in the armed forces. June C. Platt Sr., postmaster at Swartz writes: "This is in reply to the article in your July 2 column with reference to four sons being in the armed forces being a record. That isn't a record, even in this area. There were five of us in the service during World War II. At one time all five were serving in a force 22 theater. We have around 22 years of wartime service, and about 40 years of military service. The youngest of us has 22 years in the Navy and is presently on the Aircraft Carrier Coral Sea off Viet Nam."

Wife Becomes Top Assistant To Doctor

When a man is home from work because of a bad cold or flu, his wife will soon learn that the usual schedule is in turmoil. House, children, friends — all must somehow surrender to the new regime. First and foremost, "we must keep the king comfortable."

I have often said that every woman is by nature a doctor and a Florence Nightingale. She is the doctor's first assistant. When little Willie or big Bill is sick, she considers herself responsible for taking care of these members of her little flock.

But how about her? Mother? Wife? What happens when she gets sick? Is there that much concern for her? Are husbands aware that the female head of the family is also human and a potential victim to the vagaries of illness? Do they realize that she can suffer too? I think most men do. But there are exceptions.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Why don't you write a column sometime called "How to Keep Your Wife Alive"? Why are most of them on the topic, "How to Keep Your Husband Alive?"

Half of the husbands seem to live it up when they aren't supposed to be able and well, and the wives worry about them until they drop.

Take my case. My husband has high blood pressure, yet he is so busy trying to make money and have a good time for himself that he drives me nuts. He is supposed to be on a salt-free diet (he's five feet seven and 230 pounds), besides having a special diet for the gout. I take special pains to prepare his diet and cook separately for him. Yet he goes away for three or four days every week with his friends (the children and I are never included). He goes with other women and eats whatever he pleases, and when he comes home the first thing he says at the door is, "I'm sick."

Well, Dr. Steincrohn, I'm sick of hearing that he's sick. His doctor told me that he is afraid that he will have a stroke or brain damage from the constant pressure. He takes at least eight different kinds of pills every day.

The money he is so busy making is only for himself. Yes, our rent is paid and we have food for the table, but when he

Dr. David S. Byrd, a member of the faculty since 1960, has been named acting head of the Department of Chemistry at Northeast Louisiana State College.

The announcement was made Friday by Dean Daniel Dupree of the School of Pure and Applied Sciences.

Dr. William K. Easley, head of the chemistry department since 1959, has been promoted to dean of the graduate school.

Dr. Byrd, an associate professor, is currently at the University of Florida where he is a post-doctoral research participant in a National Science Foundation Research Program.

Dr. Byrd recently was granted an academic year extension of his grant and will continue his research at Northeast during the 1966-67 session.

The new acting head is a native of Stephens, Ark., and received his bachelor of science degree from Southern State College. He received his master's degree from the University of Kentucky and the Ph. D. from the University of Louisville.

He is a member of the Louisiana Academy of Science and former chairman of the South Arkansas Chapter of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Byrd is a member of the board of deacons of Parkview Baptist Church and teaches a Sunday School class. He and his wife, Julia, have two daughters.

Speck Goes To New Cell For Security

CHICAGO (AP)—Richard Speck, accused of murdering eight student nurses, was transferred Friday from the hospital section of the Cook County jail to a maximum security cell.

The drifter, 24, has been under treatment for self-inflicted wounds and a heart condition since his arrest July 17.

The slaying victims, all students at South Chicago Community Hospital, were found strangled or stabbed to death July 14 in an apartment they shared a few blocks from the hospital.

Warden Jack Johnson said Speck was moved into one of three maximum security cells in a section of the jail that formerly was known as "death row." The section was used to house condemned killers and is near a room housing the electric chair.

Johnson said jail doctors told him Speck had recovered sufficiently to be placed in a cell.

Stock Mart Enjoys First Advances For Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Electronics and other glamor stocks paced the stock market Friday to its first advance of the week. Trading was fairly active.

Volume increased to 6.24 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 2.62 to 840.53. It was at its best mid session when it was up 5.18. Many of the blue chip components softened thereafter. The result was that the rally was not very impressive.

For example, General Motors, which is often regarded as a market weather-vane, ended the day with a loss of 1/4 at 78 1/2, having touched another new low for the year. Ford and Chrysler, which have been making lows, declined fractionally.

In addition, steels were mostly lower. Utilities, tobacco and drugs declined.

Selective strength among non-ferrous metals, aerospace issues, electrical equipments, rubbers and oils helped the averages hold limited gains.

Color televisions and other electronics sparked the advance, taking off from their display of strength amid Tuesday's falling market. Airlines tagged along, investors betting on another sustained advance in these stocks when the strike is settled.

The strength of the glamor stocks was based to some extent on a report published in a financial periodical which said that mutual fund managers favored these issues even during the general market decline of the second quarter. Their importance in these investment funds was further underlined by the fact that several mutual funds rose in the net assets per share Thursday even while the market averages and indexes were unanimous in calling it a lower

Cotton Ends Same To $2 Bale Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed unchanged to $2.00 a bale lower.

Trading was moderately active with transactions developing in all of the 1966 crop trading months.

Traders believed that part of the selling was hedging of cotton purchased under the government 1966-67 cotton selling program.

Rights Moves Out Of Hand, HHH Finds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Friday racial demonstrations had "gotten out of hand" and were setting back the civil rights movement. He said they should be stopped for a cooling off period.

"People are sick and tired of violence and disorder," Humphrey said in a television interview. "We have laws in this country which must be obeyed."

He said there was no doubt that Negroes needed a better life, but the demonstrations had "gone too far." He said they had created a backlash of resentment among white and "the cause is suffering—the cause of civil rights."

Humphrey's comments came as the House passed a bill to end the 1966-67 cotton selling program. He said the bill was "a step in the right direction" and that it would help to "cool off" the cotton market.

Slow Grain Futures Mart Mostly Weak

CHICAGO (AP)—New crop soybean contacts maintained small gains most of the time in a slow grain futures market but the grains turned generally toward weakness.

Brokers said broad weakness of the previous day for all commodities attracted a good deal of profit cashing all around but there was more limited in soybeans.

Some of the support in that pit was understood to have been speculative short covering which failed to find sellers during the previous session.

Daughter Denies FDR Romance

NEW YORK (UPI) —The daughter of a deceased New York socialite who was reported by a historian to be the other woman in Franklin Delano Roosevelt's life denied Friday that her mother had a romance with the late President.

"My mother and President Roosevelt were good friends, but to call it a romance is going rather far," said Mrs. Barbara Rutherford Knowles of Beverly Farms, Mass. "My mother was with the President when he died but so were a number of other friends. I don't think anything can be made of this."

Mrs. Knowles indicated resentment that Jonathan Daniels, a former aide to Roosevelt, had resurrected the old rumor in his new book, "The Times Between The Wars," to be published next Friday. The book claims that Roosevelt's attachment for his wife's social secretary, Lucy Mercer, nearly destroyed the Roosevelt marriage in 1918 and caused Eleanor Roosevelt 30 years of bitterness and jealousy.

Miss Mercer married a Roosevelt family friend, Winthrop Rutherford, a wealthy widower nearly twice her age, in 1920. The couple had one child, who is now Mrs. Robert Winthrop Knowles.

"My mother and father had a close, devoted marriage," said Mrs. Knowles. "It was a happy, marvelous relationship. No one could think otherwise."

Daniels, however, relates that Mrs. Rutherford and Roosevelt remained bound "by ties of deep and unbroken affection" throughout their marriages and that Eleanor Roosevelt suffered a final bitterness in knowing that her rivals—and not she herself—was with him when the end came in Warm Springs, Ga., in 1945.

Miss Laura Delano, Roosevelt's cousin who was with him when he actually died, said Mrs. Rutherford had left the little White House shortly after the President collapsed as the result of a stroke.

"She was there when he was stricken, but she was not there when he died," said Miss Delano at her estate in Rhinebeck, N.Y. "I think this story about a romance is perfectly outrageous—awful! They started in on Franklin with silly gossip the moment he died and they've never stopped."

A family connection of Mrs. Rutherford, who asked to remain anonymous, supported Daniels' version of the relationship and went even further.

"Franklin wanted to marry Lucy but Eleanor would not consent to a divorce," the relative said. "Franklin was being mentioned in Democratic party circles for high political office and Eleanor said she would not let him ruin his career with a divorce."

Daniels is the son of the late Josephus Daniels, who was Navy secretary when Roosevelt went to Washington in 1913 as assistant secretary of the Navy. Mrs. Roosevelt engaged Miss Mercer, member of an old Maryland family, soon after to handle her correspondence and help look after the children.

Mrs. Rutherford visited Roosevelt in Warm Springs several times during his presidential terms and the President also visited her. The manager of the 1,500-acre Rutherford estate at Allamuchy, N.J., disclosed Friday that Roosevelt made a secret visit there in September, 1944, a few months after Mrs. Rutherford was widowed.

The manager, Edward H. Danks, said Roosevelt arrived on a private railroad car on the Lehigh & Hudson Railroad which crossed the estate.

Mrs. Rutherford was eight years younger than Roosevelt and outlived him three years.

Plaquemines May Refuse Schooling

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A Plaquemines Parish official predicted Friday 98 per cent of the parish's residents would refuse to send their children to desegregated schools.

Luke Petrovich, the Plaquemines public safety director, made the statement as an aside while delivering a glowing tribute to segregationist leader Lander H. Perez, president of the Plaquemines Parish Council.

Petrovich became a "character" witness for Perez, who is fighting a federal government request to desegregate parish schools.

Perez, who is known for his bitter attacks on the federal government, told the court desegregation of parish schools is a greater threat to his domain than Hurricane Betsy, which did thousands of dollars worth of damage in the coastal area last September.

Perez asked Petrovich to tell the court how he (Perez) is regarded in Plaquemines "as a leader, as a man—a man who has given his life to the people of Plaquemines Parish."

Before Petrovich could answer, Judge Herbert W. Christenberry broke in to say he has known Perez longer than Petrovich.

Petrovich said he thought the major problem in the parish would be opening "schools with no children."

Petrovich said earlier he knew of no cases where Negroes were threatened because of civil rights activity.

The hearing on the Justice Department suit is in its third day. It started a week ago, but was continued until Thursday because of a crowded court docket.

Plaquemines is probably the most segregated parish in Louisiana. The parish school system accepts no federal funds and Perez has tried to make the parish as independent as possible.

Illegal Search Of Homes CIA Refuses Answer, 'Man Of Cloak,' Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hans V. Tofte said Friday he demanded at a CIA inquiry a public statement by intelligence chief Richard Helms on whether the spy agency illegally searches American homes.

Tofte, 55, reported this after a brief confrontation with the Central Intelligence Agency panel checking charges that he violated security regulations.

The Danish-born veteran of cloak-and-dagger operations going back to World War II told reporters he was told as the meeting began that "it was a board of inquiry" so "I made the inquiry: 'Has the CIA now stopped entering people's homes illegally minus a warrant and without due process of law within the continental limits of the United States of America?'"

He said he demanded that Helms "answer yes or no in person and in public."

"All of a sudden the meeting was over," he added. "I was escorted out—the whole meeting lasted six minutes."

There was no CIA comment on Tofte's version of Friday's events.

Tofte noted that the CIA is empowered by its charter to run intelligence operations overseas, but not inside the United States.

He contends that even CIA employees have a citizen's right against illegal search and seizure at home—and that the CIA violated this in getting documents from his house July 24. He says he would have freely admitted CIA security men if they had arrived with proper legal authority.

The CIA's version is that Tofte's house was up for rent and a fellow CIA employee chanced on secret CIA documents there while he was genuinely apartment hunting. It is against CIA regulations to take classified material home. The CIA employee returned the following day with a security man and picked up the documents.

Tofte has been suspended with pay from his $25,000-a-year position while the CIA probes the case.

Tofte confirmed a report that he had written a letter to a Mason City, Iowa, friend which contains criticism of the present CIA setup. A story by Clark Mollenhoff in the Cowles Newspapers said the letter indicates Tofte has inside information about the Bay of Pigs, the Dominican Republic, and Vietnamese operations that could embarrass the CIA.

The CIA had no comment.

Viet Veteran Of Air War Dies In U.S.

SUTTONS BAY, Mich. (AP) — A Navy pilot, recently returned from Viet Nam where he flew more than 100 missions, was killed Friday when his single-seat plane crashed and burned near his parents' summer home here.

The victim was identified as Lt. (j.g.) Glen Kalember, 24, of Grosse Pointe.

Authorities said Kalember, who was attached to Attack Squadron 115 at Leemore, Calif., was flying a Navy A1 Skyraider on a visit to his family.

Witnesses said the craft circled the family home twice while the pilot dropped a note asking his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Kalember, to meet him at the Traverse City airport.

While making a third pass a wingtip caught on a tree, spinning the plane around. It crashed 1,000 feet from his parents' home and less than 200 feet from two other houses.

Senate Passes Bill On Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — An omnibus housing bill setting up a special government mortgage insurance program for riot-torn areas was passed by the Senate Friday and sent to the House.

The Senate vote on the measure, second in a series of four wide-ranging housing bills, was 61 to 3. The negative votes were cast by Sens. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo., and John J. Williams, R-Del.

Despite administration objections, the Senate adopted an amendment providing for $900 million of new authority for college dormitory loans over the next three years.

The amendment was sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who contended that no loan funds are now available, raising the possibility that students may be turned away from colleges and universities in the fall of 1967 for lack of housing.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, floor manager for the bill, insisted funds are available for the $300 million in loans planned for the current fiscal year and will be supplied.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., sponsored the proposal for a special home mortgage insurance program for areas in which "rioting or other civil disorders have occurred or are threatened."

Kuchel said that in places such as the Watts area of Los Angeles, scene of destructive rioting last summer, it is impossible now to obtain private loans for housing.

Other provisions of the bill would:

—Authorize a new program of FHA insurance of mortgages for seasonal housing up to $15,000 or 75 per cent of the appraised value of the property.

—Increase the maximum FHA mortgage insurance on a special program of low and middle-income housing initiated in 1961. On single family homes, the limit would be raised from $11,000 to $12,500; on two-family residences, from $18,000 to $20,000.

—Authorize FHA insurance for loans to finance the group practice of medicine, dentistry or optometry. The mortgage would be limited to 25 years and to an amount not to exceed 90 per cent of value or $5 million.

—Set up a new program of grants to states and cities for purchase, restoration or improvements of sites of historic or architectural value. The grants would be out of open space and urban beautification funds already available.

—Amend the urban renewal law to authorize the preservation of historic sites as an eligible urban renewal cost and to provide for recognition of historic and architectural preservation in urban renewal plans. Cities also could get credit on their share of urban renewal for such purposes.

—Authorize a new program of government loans to assist in providing homes for needy persons in Alaska in accordance with statewide programs there.

Daughter Denies FDR Romance

NEW YORK (UPI) —The daughter of a deceased New York socialite who was reported by a historian to be the other woman in Franklin Delano Roosevelt's life denied Friday that her mother had a romance with the late President.

"My mother and President Roosevelt were good friends, but to call it a romance is going rather far," said Mrs. Barbara Rutherford Knowles of Beverly Farms, Mass. "My mother was with the President when he died but so were a number of other friends. I don't think anything can be made of this."

Mrs. Knowles indicated resentment that Jonathan Daniels, a former aide to Roosevelt, had resurrected the old rumor in his new book, "The Times Between the Wars," to be published next Friday. The book claims that Roosevelt's attachment for his wife's social secretary, Lucy Mercer, nearly destroyed the Roosevelt marriage in 1918 and caused Eleanor Roosevelt 30 years of bitterness and jealousy.

Miss Mercer married a Roosevelt family friend, Winthrop Rutherford, a wealthy widower nearly twice her age, in 1920. The couple had one child, who is now Mrs. Robert Winthrop Knowles.

"My mother and father had a close, devoted marriage," said Mrs. Knowles. "It was a happy, marvelous relationship. No one could think otherwise."

Daniels, however, relates that Mrs. Rutherford and Roosevelt remained bound "by ties of deep and unbroken affection" throughout their marriages and that Eleanor Roosevelt suffered a final bitterness in knowing that her rivals had not shed herself — was with him when the end came in Warm Springs, Ga., in 1945.

Miss Laura Delano, Roosevelt's cousin who was with him when he actually died, said Mrs. Rutherford had left the little White House shortly after the President collapsed as the result of a stroke.

"She was there when he was stricken, but she was not there when he died," said Miss Delane at her estate in Rhinebeck, N.Y. "I think this story about a romance is perfectly outrageous — awful! They started in on Franklin with silly gossip the moment he died and they've never stopped."

The family connection of Mrs. Rutherford, who asked to remain anonymous, supported Daniels' version of the relationship and went even further.

"Franklin wanted to marry Lucy but Eleanor would not consent to a divorce," the relative said. "Franklin was being mentioned in Democratic party circles for high political office and Eleanor said she would not let him ruin his career with a divorce."

Daniels is the son of the late Joseph Daniels, who was Navy secretary when Roosevelt went to Washington in 1913 as assistant secretary of the Navy. Mrs. Roosevelt engaged Miss Mercer, member of an old Maryland family, soon after to handle her correspondence and help look after the children.

Mrs. Rutherford visited Roosevelt in Warm Springs several times during his presidential terms and the President also visited her. The manager of the 1,500-acre Rutherford estate at Allamuchy, N.J., disclosed Friday that Roosevelt made a secret visit there in September, 1944, a few months after Mrs. Rutherford was widowed.

The manager, Edward H. Danks, said Roosevelt arrived on a private railroad car on the Lehigh & Hudson Railroad which crossed the estate.

Mrs. Rutherford was eight years younger than Roosevelt and outlived him three years.

Plaquemines May Refuse Schooling

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A Plaquemines Parish official predicted Friday 98 per cent of the parish's residents would refuse to send their children to desegregated schools.

Luke Petrovich, the Plaquemines public safety director, made the statement as an aside while delivering a glowing tribute to segregationist leader Lander H. Perez, president of the Plaquemines Parish Council.

Petrovich became a "character" witness for Perez, who is fighting a federal government request to desegregate parish schools.

Perez, who is known for his bitter attacks on the federal government, told the court desegregation of parish schools is a greater threat to his domain than Hurricane Betsy, which did thousands of dollars worth of damage in the coastal area last September.

Petrovich asked Petrovich to tell the court how he (Perez) is regarded in Plaquemines "as a leader, as a man—a man who has given his life to the people of Plaquemines Parish."

Before Petrovich could answer, Judge Herbert W. Christenberry broke in to say he has known Perez longer than Petrovich.

Petrovich said he thought the major problem in the parish would be opening schools with no children.

Petrovich said earlier he knew of no cases where Negroes were threatened because of civil rights activity.

The hearing on the Justice Department suit is in its third day. It started a week ago, but was continued until Thursday because of a crowded court docket.

Plaquemines is probably the most segregated parish in Louisiana. The parish school system accepts no federal funds and Perez has tried to make the parish as independent as possible.

Illegal Search Of Homes CIA Refuses Answer, 'Man Of Cloak,' Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hans V. Tofte said Friday he demanded a CIA inquiry a public statement by intelligence chief Richard Helms on whether the spy agency illegally searched American homes.

Tofte, 55, reported this after a brief confrontation with the Central Intelligence Agency panel checking charges that he violated security regulations.

The Danish-born veteran of a cloak-and-dagger operations going back to World War II told reporters he was told as the meeting began that "it was a board of inquiry" so "I made the inquiry: 'Has the CIA now stopped entering people's homes illegally minus a warrant and without due process of law within the continental limits of the United States of America?'"

He said he demanded that Helms "answer yes or no in person and in public."

"All of a sudden the meeting was over," he added. "I was escorted out — the whole meeting lasted six minutes."

There was no CIA comment on Tofte's version of Friday's events.

Tofte noted that the CIA is empowered by its charter to run intelligence operations overseas, but not inside the United States.

He contends that even CIA employees have a citizen's right against illegal search and seizure at home — and that the CIA

Viet Veteran Of Air War Dies In U.S.

SUTTONS BAY, Mich. (AP) — A Navy pilot, recently returned from Viet Nam where he flew more than 100 missions, was killed Friday when his single-seat plane crashed and burned near his parents' summer home here.

The victim was identified as Lt. (j.g.) Glen Kalember, 24, of Grosse Pointe.

Authorities said Kalember, who was attached to Attack Squadron 115 at Leemore, Calif., was flying a Navy A1 Skyraider on a visit to his family.

Witnesses said the craft circled the family home twice while the pilot dropped a note asking his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Kalember, to meet him at the Traverse City airport.

While making a third pass a wingtip caught on a tree, spinning the plane around. It crashed 1,000 feet from his parents' home and less than 200 feet from two other houses.

NEW YORK (AP) — Judge John J. Unger of Danville, Ill., was elected Friday national commander of the Disabled American Veterans.

Mayor George A. Wells of Worcester, Mass., was elected senior vice commander at the 45th annual convention.

Tofte confirmed a report that he had written a letter to a Mason City, Iowa, friend which contains criticism of the present CIA setup. A story by Clark Mollenhoff in the Cowles News-Papers said the letter indicates Tofte has inside information about the Bay of Pigs, the Dominican Republic, and Vietnamese operations that could embarrass the CIA.

The CIA had no comment.

Senate Passes Bill On Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — An omnibus housing bill setting up a special government mortgage insurance program for riot-torn areas was passed by the Senate Friday and sent to the House.

The Senate vote on the measure, second in a series of four wide-ranging housing bills, was 61 to 3. The negative votes were cast by Sens. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo., and John J. Williams, R-Del.

Despite administration objections, the Senate adopted an amendment providing for $900 million of new authority for college dormitory loans over the next three years.

The amendment was sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who contended that no loan funds are now available, raising the possibility that students may be turned away from colleges and universities in the fall of 1967 for lack of housing.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, floor manager for the bill, insisted funds are available for the $900 million in loans planned for the current fiscal year and will be supplied.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., sponsored the proposal for a special home mortgage insurance program for areas in which "rioting or other civil disorders have occurred or are threatened."

Kuchel said that in places such as the Watts area of Los Angeles, scene of destructive rioting last summer, it is impossible now to obtain private loans for housing.

Other provisions of the bill would: —Authorize a new program of FHA insurance of mortgages for seasonal housing up to $15,000 or 75 per cent of the appraised value of the property.

—Increase the maximum FHA mortgage insurance on a special program of low and middle-income housing initiated in 1961. On single family homes, the limit would be raised from $11,000 to $12,500; on two-family residences, from $18,000 to $20,000.

—Authorize FHA insurance for loans to finance the group practice of medicine, dentistry or optometry. The mortgage would be limited to 25 years and to an amount not to exceed 90 per cent of value or $5 million.

—Set up a new program of grants to states and cities for purchase, restoration or improvement of sites of historic or architectural value. The grants would be out of open space and urban beautification funds already available.

—Amend the urban renewal law to authorize the preservation of historic sites as an eligible urban renewal cost and to provide for recognition of historic and architectural preservation in urban renewal plans. Cities also could get credit on their share of urban renewal for such purposes.

—Authorize a new program of government loans to assist in providing homes for needy persons in Alaska in accordance with statewide programs there.

Absentee Ballot, Aid In Voting Big Items

By MILO DAKIN
World Staff Writer

That old election nemesis, the absentee ballot, which has changed many election outcomes in contested votes, will be joined today by the presence of federally registered voters and poll commissioners assisting illiterates attempting to vote.

This leaves any unhappy candidate plenty of avenue to contest the election outcome. There have been 401 absentee ballots cast in the parish —

NEWS PERSPECTIVE

There are 5,345 federally registered voters — and there are at least 72 illiterate voters.

This means there are at least 5,318 votes in Ouachita Parish that can be argued over after the election.

Probably the only contention that could arise over the federal list of voters is if voters themselves claimed denial of voting privilege. It is highly unlikely a candidate would have grounds for argument over allowing the federally registered voters to participate, even if it was obvious their vote beat him.

The Justice Department's civil rights chief said Friday that 150 poll watchers will be assigned in Louisiana to make sure persons on the federal list are not tampered with or intimidated at the polls.

Many of them however, will undoubtedly require assistance from poll commissioners, hence the elimination of the secret ballot and possible grounds for a contest of the results.

According to the Ouachita Parish Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Bert Sperry, the federal court desires any illiterate to seek assistance from the poll worker of his choice.

Sperry said an illiterate must swear to his illiteracy at the polls before being allowed to receive assistance. According to him, the rules read, "The commissioner shall ascertain the wishes of the voter and cast the assisted voter's ballot accordingly." It further states that "no person shall swear falsely in order to obtain assistance."

It further reads: "No voter shall ask for or receive assistance from an unauthorized person."

"No person who is not a commissioner shall volunteer to assist a voter in physically casting his ballot."

Red Korea Breaks Off With China

TOKYO (UPI)—North Korea got tired of Communist China's anti-Soviet tirades and declared its independence from the Communist bloc Friday.

In the first open slap at the Peking regime which rescued them from the brink of defeat during the Korean War with a million "volunteers," the North Koreans said bluntly they were tired of being pressured to follow the Chinese line in international affairs.

They added they also were tired of China's trying to dictate internal policy to them and warned Peking that it had better acquire some manners in its dealings with other socialist nations.

The blunt statement was contained in the Pyongyang government paper Rodong Shinmun in a lead article entitled "Let Us Defend Independence."

There was no immediate reaction from Peking, but it no doubt came as a blow to the leadership. North Korea was one of only three Communist nations still on good terms with the Red Chinese. The other two are Albania and North Viet Nam.

"Communists should always do their own thinking and act independently," maintaining their own identity," the article said. "The Communists cannot live, ideologically shackled to anyone...they should not dance to the tune of others."

The paper said that there are still "ideological survivals of flunkeyism" in North Korea—a reference to those who blindly follow the Chinese line—but said efforts were being made to suppress them.

Finally, the North Koreans told the Chinese they were being eminently foolish in blocking joint Communist cooperation to win the war in Viet Nam and urged them to stop it forthwith.

There was no more than a hint of the immediate source of the trouble between Peking and Pyongyang in the article, excerpts of which were broadcast Friday afternoon by the official Korean Central News Agency.

But in retrospect, there have been signs that such a split might be coming for at least a year and a half. They first appeared when Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin went to Pyongyang in February, 1965, on the way home from a visit to North Viet Nam.

Pyongyang followed the Hanoi lead and gave Kosygin a warm welcome and a two-day tour of its burgeoning industrial areas. But at published statements that took a more-or-less neutral position in the Sino-Soviet dispute. Up to that time Pyongyang had more or less faithfully followed the Peking line.

In the 18 months since then, Pyongyang has maintained silence on the Sino-Soviet feud, has vocally supported any and all aid to North Viet Nam, and has done some moderately un-Chinese things, such as publishing hard economic statistics and proposing free travel for both North and anti-Communist South Koreans across the 38th parallel.

The article never mentioned China or the Soviet Union by name. But it went out of its way to leave no doubt the object of its ire was indeed Peking. It praised the Japanese Communist Party for "opposing interference in its internal affairs by other parties."

Japan's Communist Party broke with Peking last spring after Secretary General Kenji Miyamoto went to Peking and got an earful of encouragement to start a revolution in his own country, immediately.

'Liz' Suffers

Broken Big Toe

ROME (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor wore a foot cast Friday after suffering a fracture of the big toe.

The actress fell while attending the Taormina Film Festival in Sicily last weekend but did not know the extent of the injury until she returned to Rome.

The cast was put on Thursday after she visited the American Medical Center here. She was told it would have to stay on for about 20 days.

Costly Banana

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — An argument over the price of a banana cost 196,000 man-hours in an Indian ammunition factory, the defense production minister, A. M. Thomas, told Parliament. He said the factory was closed for five days after workers battled with dwellers of nearby squatters' shacks because a worker complained a squatter overcharged him for the banana.

MAY VISIT U.S. — MME. Nguyen Cao Ky, wife of South Viet Nam's prime minister, said Friday she might visit the United States in November. She stressed, however, that her husband would not accompany her if she did go.

They added they also were tired of China's trying to dictate internal policy to them and warned Peking that it had better acquire some manners in its dealings with other socialist nations.

The blunt statement was contained in the Pyongyang government paper Rodong Shinmun in a lead article entitled "Let Us Defend Independence."

There was no immediate reaction from Peking, but it no doubt came as a blow to the leadership. North Korea was one of only three Communist nations still on good terms with the Red Chinese. The other two are Albania and North Viet Nam.

"Communists should always do their own thinking and act independently," maintaining their own identity," the article said. "The Communists cannot live, ideologically shackled to anyone...they should not dance to the tune of others."

The paper said that there are still "ideological survivals of flunkiness" in North Korea—a reference to those who blindly follow the Chinese line—but said efforts were being made to suppress them.

Finally, the North Koreans told the Chinese they were being eminently foolish in blocking joint Communist cooperation to win the war in Viet Nam and urged them to stop it forthwith.

There was no more than a hint of the immediate source of the trouble between Peking and Pyongyang in the article, excerpts of which were broadcast Friday afternoon by the official Korean Central News Agency.

But in retrospect, there have been signs that such a split might be coming for at least a year and a half. They first appeared when Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin went to Pyongyang in February, 1965, on the way home from a visit to North Viet Nam.

Pyongyang followed the Hanoi lead and gave Kosygin a warm welcome and a two-day tour of its burgeoning industrial areas. But at published statements that took a more-or-less neutral position in the Sino-Soviet dispute. Up to that time Pyongyang had more or less faithfully followed the Peking line.

In the 18 months since then, Pyongyang has maintained silence on the Sino-Soviet feud, has vocally supported any and all aid to North Viet Nam, and has done some moderately un-Chinese things, such as publishing hard economic statistics and proposing free travel for both North and anti-Communist South Koreans across the 38th parallel.

The article never mentioned China or the Soviet Union by name. But it went out of its way to leave no doubt the object of its ire was indeed Peking. It praised the Japanese Communist Party for "opposing interference in its internal affairs by other parties."

Japan's Communist Party broke with Peking last spring after Secretary General Kenji Miyamoto went to Peking and got an earful of encouragement to start a revolution in his own country, immediately.

'Liz' Suffers Broken Big Toe

ROME (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor wore a foot cast Friday after suffering a fracture of the big toe.

The actress fell while attending the Taormina Film Festival in Sicily last weekend but did not know the extent of the injury until she returned to Rome.

The cast was put on Thursday after she visited the American Medical Center here. She was told it would have to stay on for about 20 days.

Costly Banana

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — An argument over the price of a banana cost 196,500 man hours in an Indian ammunition factory, the defense production minister, A. M. Thomas, told Parliament. He said the factory was closed for five days after workers battled with dwellers of nearby squatters' shacks because a worker complained a squatter overcharged him for the banana.

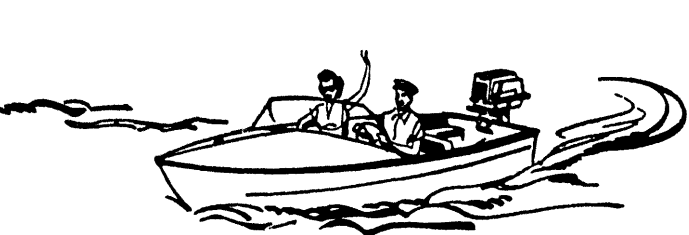

MAY VISIT U.S.

MANILA (UPI) — Mme. Nguyen Cao Ky, wife of South Viet Nam's prime minister, said Friday she might visit the United States in November. She stressed, however, that her husband would not accompany her if she did go.
